2d. Daily Mirror 5 into 3 See Page Two.

No. 202.

Registered at the G. P. O. as a Newspaper.

MONDAY, JUNE 27, 1904.

One Halfpenny.

TOGO WINS ANOTHER GREAT SEA FIGHT AT PORT ARTHUR.

BIRTHS

TCHER.—On the 24th inst., at 92, West-hill, Syden am, the wife of Harry J. Butcher, of a son. INNER.—On June 23, at 5, King's avenue, Muswell-hill, he wife of T. Hewitt Skinner, of a daughter.

BETROTHALS.

KEAD—HELLMANN.—The marriage of Mr. Wm. Illander Kinkead and Bertha, the daughter of Mr. Wm. Hellmann, Istoly of Occlabanda, will take place in Sep-EMERS—PAGE-ROBE-ETS.—The marriage between It. Waldron Smithers, son of Mr. Alfred Smithers, of nockholt, Sevenoaks, and Marjory, daughter of Rev. F. age-Roberts, Straffichiasy Rectory, will take place in

MARRIAGES.

DYSOM-BOWERS. On June 23, at Westbourne Wes-syan Church, Bournemouth, by the Rev. W. H. Spencer, William Gibson Bloyson, F.F.A., managing director of the Profits and Income Insurance Company, Deversor, Charles, No. Cards. At home after September, 21, 88, homes-manions, Westminster Bridge. Solida, Markins, on the Scalin-McMins, on the 25rd inst. at 84. Georgie Scalin-McMins, on the 25rd inst. at 84. Georgie Galli-mcMins, on the 25rd inst. at 84. Georgie Galli-mcMins, on the Service of the Con-graphy of the Conference of the Con-yden, World Conference on the Con-yden, Conference on the Conference of the Conference Robert Inglis McMins, of South Covydon.

DEATHS.

LL—On the 24th inst., at 58, Cambridge-terrace, ark. London, Georgius Janet, eldest daughter of Sir Thomas Livingstone Mitchell, D.C.L., of Sir Thomas Livingstone Mitchell, D.C.L., of Wales, aged 37. Australian papers please copy, On the 25rd inst., at 52, Detoe-road, Tooting, Ionine Soyez, aged 90. Service at Tooting Parish Trackaly, 25th inst., at 5. 3.—On the 24th inst., at Beigate Lodge, Surrey, and, the wife of Sir Atthur Townicy Walson, PERSONAL.

RALD.—You must see Beb at once.

ILL watting to know & whom indebted.—D.

OUT.—M. implores Jack answer letter of 25th inst.

IAMHOOK-FHISTLE.—Same hour and place, Tuesday.

DLING.—Tunaks both message the place of the place of REWARD.—Lost, in District train at Aldgate East reel of bicycle fittings. Return same to 165, Sloane REWARD.—Lost, rear Baker-street, black Schipperke illiess dog.—21, Suffolk-street, Pall Mall, S.W. JMD, Haymarket, banknotes.—Apply, by letter, giving umbers, Macgregor, 72, Burghley-road, Highgate-road,

ELECTROLYSIS.—Cure guaranteed.—Miss Thomson, 186,

"The above advertisements (which are accepted up to am. for the next day's issue are charged at the rate of the words for 1s. 6d., and 2d. per word atterwards. They is be brought to the office or sent by post with postal for. Trade afterissments in Personal Column, eight for 4s., and 6d. per word after.—Address Advertisents Manager. "Mirrot." 2 Azmelletes, London.

PUBLIC NOTICE.

THE SALVATION ARMY'S INTERNA-

PRIVATE meetings of the Congress do not until Wednesday, July 5. All meetings this n to the public, and tickets may be obtained Office in front of the Hall in the Strand. F lars see detailed programme

AMUSEMENTS.

HAYMARKET.

LADY FLIET.

MATNEE EVERY WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY, 2.30.

MPERIAL THE ATRE. Mg. Lewis WALLER.

TO-NIGHT and EVERY EVENING at 9.

MATNEE WEDNESDAYS AND SATURDAYS at 3.

MISS ELLZABETHS PIRRONER.

Frecided at 0.75 by A QUEEN'S MESSERGER.

Preceded at 5.15 by A QUEEN'S MESSENGER.

SHAFTE SBURY.

EVERY EVENING: at 8.15.

Mr. Henry W. Sissage's American Co. in

THE FUNNCE OF PILEEA.

BOX Office 10 to 10.

ST. JAME'S'S.—MR. GEORGE ALEXANDER.

Will appear EVERY EVENING at 9 in

"SATURDAY TO MONDAY." 641st time.

By Frederick Penn and Richard Pryce.

By Frederick Penn and Richard Pryce.

MATINEE EVERY WEINESDAY, 2.50.

MATINEE EVERY WEINESDAY, 2.50.

MATINEE EVERY WEINESDAY, 2.50.

THE OXFORD.—VESTA TILLEY, Yukio Tani, Clark and Hamilton, Geo. Mozart, Vesta Victoria dos O'German, Dutch Baly, Harvey Boys, Ernest Shand. Grand Control of the State of Control of

CRYSTAL PALACE.
GREAT SPORTS EXHIBITION.
"Quasimodo, the Hunchback of Notre Dame," in Theatre.
4.0 and 6.0.
Sir Hiram Maxim's Cautive Flying Machine.
Bane of H.M. Colstream Gnards, C.P. Millery Band, Water Chee, Rapids, Toppa-Turry Railway and other structions.

Water Count, Rapon, Toppy-Tury Assistay and State Haractions.
BROOKS STREWORKS EVERY THURSDAY and SATULDAY.
Colossal Fire Pictures of the Russo-Japanese War.
Table d'hote Luncheons and Dinners in the New Dining Rooms overbooking the grounds. Mesers. J. Lyons and Co., Ltd., Catarers by appointment.

THE CHARING CROSS HANK. Est. 1870.

119 cnd 120, Bishopgatest Within E.C. and 28, Bedfortst Chirng Cross. W.C. London. Assets. 1597.790. Lishitities. 1225.560. Surplus. 2512.110. 21 per cent. clibwed on cerrent seconds. 2512.110. 21 per cent. 2512.110. 21 per

TO-DAY'S NEWS AT A GLANCE.

Our special weather forecast for to-day is: Light north-westerly breezes; mostly fair with considerable sunshine; local thunder-showers; warm.

Lighting-up time: 9.19 p.m.

Sea passages will be smooth on all coasts.

Russia has suffered another staggering blow. Her Port Arthur fleet attempted to make a dash to the south on Thursday, but were engaged in combat outside the harbour by the Japanese fleet, with the result that a Russian battleship was sunk, another was disabled, and a cruiser rendered help-less. It is said that a Russian admiral and 750 men were drowned.—Page 3.1 were drowned .- (Page 3.)

The Japanese advance on the railway is being steadily pursued, and the Russians detending the line are nearly facing the most imposing array of troops which the Japanese have concentrated since the war began. News of a momentous battle is expected at any hour.—(Page 3.)

GENERAL.

His Majesty the King was accorded a great reception at Kiel on Saturday. The weather was very bad, but yesterday the harbour was flooded with sunshine, and there was nothing to mar the gorgeousness of the fête.—(Page 3.)

Raisuli's captives have been released, and have reached Tangier.—(Page 3.)

Rain spoiled the temperance demonstrations, at which Sir Wilfrid Lawson was the principal speaker, in Hyde Park on Saturday.—(Page 4.)

After experiencing heavy rainstorms Mr. Weigel, a the Mirror motor-car, reached Perth on the count trip at 3 a.m. yesterday, and forty-five ninutes later set off for the journey south to consider the two thousand miles non-stop run.—(Pages and 8.)

Mr. Clement Scott, on whose behalf a matinée was given at His Majesty's Theatre on Thursday, passed away on Saturday morning.—(Page 11.)

Strange midnight ceremonies are being held at the "Abode of Love," at Spaxton, Somersetshire, the retreat of Pigott, the "Clapton Messiah." Pigott is expected in London shortly.—(Page 4.)

There were scenes of extraordinary enthusiasm at the opening by General Booth on Saturday of the temporary building in the Strand erected for the International Congress of the Salvation Army.

Eighty girl telephone operators struck work at the Holborn Exchange on Saturday. They object having their hours of duty lengthened.—(Page 4.)

LAW AND CRIME.

Charged with manufacturing counterfeit coin-1,400 spurious florins were found in their flat-Henry and Mary Harrison were remanded for a week at Lambeth Police Court. Following another raid on a coining den in Kennington, John Reid was committed for trial.—(Page 5.)

Remarkable evidence was given for the prosecution in the case of William Robert Reece, charged on remand with perjury when claiming 45,000 damages for injuries from the L. and N.W. Railway.—(Page 5.)

Falling in love with the wife of a cat's meat man after sixteen years' wedded life, Walter Frank Redknap ran away from home. He was charged at the South-Western Police Court with desertion, and his wife granted a judicial separation with alimony.—(Page 5.)

With his two motor-car drivers as co-respondents, Mr. Walter Morford successfully brought an action for divorce in Mr. Justice Barnes's court.—(Page 5.)

The bowlers being helped by the rain and sun, and a treacherous wicket, Lancashire beat Surrey at the Oval by 70 runs. In the course of the Surrey innings Hayward completed his 1,000 runs for the season, a feat only previously accomplished this summer by Fry.—(Page 15.)

Riseley beat Ritchie by 3 sets to love in the final of the challenge round of the singles championship at Wimbledon on Saturday. He will meet the holder, Doherty, to-day.—(Page 13.)

At Sandown Park on Saturday the Duke of Portland's Pamflete carried off the British Dominion Stakes. Only one favourite won during the afternoon, Laurier securing the Coombe Plate, the last event on the card.—[Page 14.]

R. G. Murray, who won the high jump with a leap of 6ft. Jin., at the Scottish Championship Meeting on Saturday, broke the Scottish record.—(Page 14.)

PETER ROBINSON'S PETER ROBINSON'S PETER ROBINSON'S

GREAT SUMMER SALE GREAT SUMMER SALE GREAT SUMMER SALE

COMMENCING TO-DAY. MOST DESIRABLE BARGAINS IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.

PETER ROBINSON'S

GREAT SUMMER SALE. CATALOGUES ON APPLICATION.

PETER ROBINSON, LTD.,

OXFORD ST. AND REGENT ST.

HOUSES AND PROPERTIES.

DISMISS your landlord; you can spend the money to better advantage and live in your own house; see this month's "Home.—Send postcard for copy to The Editor, 3, Brushfield-st, London, E.C.

R URNISHED Cottage to let in seasific village in Somer-scathire; select, restrul, unique; delightful scenery; good cycling; ideal holiday resort—Particulars for stamp, Mrs. Osband, Stolford, Stogursey, near Bridgwater.

FURNISHED house for season; 6 bedrooms, 2 reception, bath; 2 minutes Esplanade.—Young, Glen Stuart, Cleveland-rd. Lowestoft.

WIMBLEDON.—Villas to let, or sale on easy torms; rents from £55; handsome elevations; tastefully decorated; electric light and fittings, sand and gravel only; Polytechnic cricket ground adjoining; trains to City and West End every few minutes; company so was motor-bus to station in four minutes.—Apply for photo and particulars of Polytechnic Estate, Limited, Wimbledon.

M AISONNETTES.—Streatham-hill [close to the station, to the unit good tests service to the station of the stati Land, Houses, Etc., for Salc.

CHEAPEST Land over offered, near Southend-on-Sea, acree and large piots, 2 miles inland, main road frontage, excellent soil, bungalows and cheap buildings allowed, ephendid sites for poutry farms, fruit growing, bungalows, nurrefires, etc.; great auction sale Thrunday, July 7; almost without reserve; easy terms, free deeds, plans ready without reserve; easy terms, free deeds, plans ready apply the Land Company, 69, thespatic, E.O.

THIS is your opportunity of securing a well-built house at an exceptionally low price. I have a few newly-built villes for sale at liferd, which I am prepared to built villes for sale at liferd, which I am prepared to hath, etc., buy windows, wenetian blinds, and all modern improvements. Prices to suit all pockets, from 2160 to £235 each.—Full particulars of Mr. Carpenter, 51, Glenoosvenue, Seven Kings, Ilford.

PARTNERSHIPS AND FINANCIAL.

A. A.— How Money Makes Money. Post free to all mentioning this paper. Will clearly show anybody to all control of the control

FIVE POUNDS to £500 ADVANCED, on shortest notice, on approved note of hand, on your own security; re-

CAS and Water Shares for sale, yielding double the interest of Consols, with equal security.—Write 1443, "Daily Mirror," 2, Carmelite-st, E.C.

IMPORTANT to Capitalists, both large and small.

Pamphlet [post free] explaining How Money May be Made.

Baxter, Son and May, 17, Fenchurchest, London, E.C.

L OANS.-£10 upwards; householders, tradesmen, etc.; repay by post.-Bridge, Broadway, Woking.

L OANS.-£25 and upwards; repayable monthly, by post, -Apply Gould, Bishopsgate, Guildford,

M ONEY advanced to Householders and others; £5 to borrowers convenience. Call or write Charles Stevens and Co., 29, Gillingham-st, Victoria Station.

M. ONEY.—If you require an advance promptly completed to a fair rate of interest apply to the old-established Provincial Union Bank, 30, Upper Brookst, Ipswich.

STOCK EXCHANGE.—We guarantee that we wired clients to buy Outarios at 23½ and Brighton A at 108½.—Write or write for genuine information to Arthur Lindsay and Company 4, Broad-st Buildings, London, E.C. Telephone 9,315 London Wall; Telegrams, "Utterness," London Wall; Telegrams, "Utterness, "Utterness," London Wall; Telegrams, "Utterness, "Utt

WE do not say from to-day onwards there is going to be a large rise in Americans, but we do say un-selfathed and the same of the same of the same stations and the same of the same of the same shallows Shares should be selling many points higher; his is what we wrote our clients on 51st May last, advining this is what we wrote our clients on 51st May last, advining or latest advices.—Ecology and the same of the same or latest advices.—Ecology and Co., 25, Rood-lane, Lor-on, E.C. Teleptame, Builegeld, London, Tesphone, 1759

25 TO £1,000 Advanced to householders and others or approved note of hand; no sureties required; trade dential.—Before borrowing elsewhere write or call or al lender, J. Vincent, 14, Islington-green, Islington

YOU MAY PURCHASE the pen at the West End Office for Small Advertisements of the "Daily Mirror," 45, New Bond Street, -W.

A FOUNTAIN PEN IS TO A COMMERCIAL MAN . WHAT . . A SEWING MACHINE IS TO A DRESSMAKER.

It is absolutely essential. More than that is the "Daily Mirror" Fountain Pen-it is in all truth wonderful. That is why it is such a good advertisement for the "Daily Mirror," and can be sold for half-a-crown.

DAILY MIRROR FOUNTAIN PEN

AN APPRECIATION.

"The pen will be most useful to me for fine close figure work. I keep the private statistical books of a very large firm—often having to get five figures in a 3-16 of an inch column. Like your paper, it is wonderful value. "(Signed) H. W. Y.—"27, Larkhall Street, "Clapham, S.W."

"DAILY MIRROR" FOUNTAIN PEN in 3 sizes of Pen Nibs, FINE. MEDIUM. BROAD.

State Plainly on Coupon which style you prefer.

CUT OUT THIS COUPON, fill in, and post to PEN DEPARTMENT,

The "Daily Mirror," 2, Carmelite Street, London, E.C.

I enclose P.O. for 2s. 71d., for which please send "D.M." Fountain Pen to NAME....

ADDRESS....

Other Small Advertisements appear on page 16.

ADMIRAL GOES DOWN.

Russian Battleship Sunk by Togo's Fleet.

750 MEN DROWNED.

Japan Collecting a Vast Army for the Crucial Fight.

Another shattering blow has been inflicted upon the Russian fleet at Port Arthur. On Thursday twenty-five Russian warships left the harbour apparently intending to make a dash to the south but Admiral Togo's fleet met them, and in the subsequent engagement a Russian battleship was sunk another was disabled, as was also a cruiser. It is believed that Admiral Ukhtomsky and 750 men went down in the battleship. This makes a total of twenty-one Russian warships sunk or disabled since the opening of the war.

Slowly, but surely, Japan's immense forces are approaching the railway in the direction of Newchwang, and at present the most imposing forces gathered together in one place since the war began are preparing for decisive battle. The Japanese are said to have on the ground three times the number of troops that were engaged at Kiulien-cheng or Wa-fang-kau, and it is fully believed that the hostile armies are practically at close quarters, ready for an unparalleled conflict.

NEW DISASTERS.

Russia's Fleet Still Further Crippled.

The following official telegram has been received at the Japanese Legation in London from Tokio:—

"Admiral Togo reports:
"On receipt of a report from the picket-ship, wire-lessly, off Port Arthur, at 11 a.m. on June 23, that the enemy's fleet had emerged from port, I advanced with the whole fleet except vessels on special mission.

"The enemy, consisting of six battleships, five cruisers, fourteen destroyers, seemed to attempt to move southward, but owing to nightfall stayed outside the port.

"That night the majority of our destroyers and torpedo-boats attacked the enemy's fleet outside the port.

At least one battleship of the Peresviet type appeared sunk, and one battleship of the Sevastopol type and one cruiser of the Diana type seen towed into the port next morning apparently seriously damaged.

"On our side destroyer Shirakuma's wardroom damaged, three men killed, one surgeon and two men wounded; torpedo-boat Chidori received one shot aft engine-room, but no casualties; torpedo-boats 64 and 66 slightly damaged. No other damage."

ADMIRAL AND 750 MEN LOST.

In a message from Tokio it is stated that the battleship sunk was the Peresviet, and that Admiral Ukhtomsky and 750 men were drowned.

ALEXEIEFF'S REPORT.

The Tsar has received the following dispatch of to-day's date from Admiral Alexeief!—
The Port Arthur squadron, under the command of Rear-Admiral Without, put to sea at eight o'clock in the morning of the 23rd inst.
According to reports from the signal stations on the Liaotishan Promontory, the ships got out with-out accident.

the Laotishan Fromontory, the ships got out with-out accident.

When our vessels reached the open water the enemy's fleet, consisting of nine large ships, three of which were battleships, and twenty-two torpedo boats, was sighted on the horizon.

Our squadron attacked the enemy.

Up to the present I have received no news as to the result of the fighting.—Reuter.

RUSSIA'S PREVIOUS LOSSES.

Apart from the losses inflicted on Russia's navy on Thursday, Russia has already had no fewer than eighteen warships sunk or disabled, as will be seen by the following list:—

in warsnips sunte or disabled, as will following list:—
Petropavlovsk, battleship, lamaged.
Tsarevitch, battleship, damaged.
Askold, cruiser, damaged.
Politava, battleship, damaged.
Politava, battleship, damaged.
Varing, cruiser, lost, damaged.
Varing, cruiser, chamaged.
Varing, cruiser, damaged.
Novik, cruiser, damaged.
Boyarin, cruiser, damaged.
Boyarin, cruiser, damaged.
Boyarit, cruiser, damaged.
Boyarit, cruiser, lost.
Korietz, gumboat, lost.
Sterashin, destroyer, lost.
Strashin, destroyer, lost.
Venesei, torpelo transport, lost.
Gunboat, lost.

IS MR. LOOMIS LOST?

Mystery Still Surrounds the Diplomat's Disappearance.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

PARIS, Sunday Night.

The mystery which surrounds the disappearance of Mr. Kent Loomis, the American diplomatist, who is still missing-in spite of the reports that he had turned up in Paris-remains as profound as

The strange occurrence has given rise to the most absurd rumours, and the American diplomatic colony in Paris is indignant at the suggestion that Ellis-the coloured gentleman who accom panied Mr. Loomis on the Kaiser Wilhelm-should in any way be held responsible for his disappearance.

Not one but several of the passengers on the liner are confident that Mr. Loomis left the vessel at Plymouth, and it is now thought possible that he may have fallen off the tug while going ashore.

On the other hand, other passengers state that they saw him leaning over the ship's side, apparently very ill, at eleven o'clock on Sounday night, and these fear that he fell overboard and was drowned.

NO DISPUTE WITH HIS FRIEND

Mr. V. S. Frank, who is personally acquainted with Mr. Ellis, informs me that the rumours of a dispute between Mr. Ellis and Mr. Loomis during the voyage are without foundation. Mr. Ellis is well-known in Washington as a diplomatist, a soldier, and a keen business man, and his whole caree is a sufficient reply to all instituations against him. He was so much affected at the disappearance of his friend that he hardly are anything for two days after.

after.

Mr. Loomis made a very indiscreet display of his money—with which he was well provided—on the voyage from America, and frequently got the waiters to cash a hundred-dollar bill for him without counting the change. It is therefore possible that when he left the Kaiser Wilhelm, he was followed on shore, and met with foul play.

Mr. Ellis has been obliged to proceed to Djiboutil, as he had arranged for a special train to meet the steamer there to convey him and a large quantity of stores and baggage to Addis-Abeba.

REPORTED IN PARIS.

The chief-constable of Plymouth is said to have received a telegram from Paris yesterday, stating that Mr. Kent Loomis had been found there.

MASSING FOR BATTLE.

Opposing Forces Ready for Momentous Battle.

LIAO-YANG, Sunday.

The most imposing force with which the Russians have been confronted during the present war is now drawn up in formidable array at the head of the Liao-tung Peninsula.

The Japanese force consists of the united armies of Generals Kuroki and Oku, each composed of at of Generals Kuroki and Uku, each composed of at least six divisions.

Facing them is the immense army under General Kuropatkin. The increasing tension here seems almost to have reached its climax, and indicates the proximity of a battle which may prove to be the most momentous in the history of the Far Fact.

East.
At least three times the number of troops enaged in the battles of Kiu-lien-cheng and Wa-fangtien are already drawn up, prepared for battle.
The Japanese are daily and regularly advancing all along the line. Members of the Red Cross Society, as well as non-combatants who wish to see the fighting, are leaving for the south every day.—Reuter's Special Service.

TSAR'S RESOLVE.

Recent Disasters Decide Him To Go to the Front.

PARIS, Sunday.

The "Petit Journal" St. Petersburg special correspondent says that on account of news received from the Far East the Tsar has decided to proceed to the seat of war. Reports of disaster to the fleet have caused consternation.—Exchange Telegraph Company.

ALPINE DEATH-ROLL TO DATE.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Saturday

Although the Alpine season has barely commenced thirty-seven accidents have already occured in the mountains, of which number nineteen have proved fatal.

Two Englishmen, Messrs. Charles Ingram and Ludlow Mason, Cambridge students, escaped death on the Wetterhorn by a miracle.

St. Nicholas Church, Lynn, was struck by lightning yesterday, causing much alarm among the congregation, who were about to leave.

FREE ONCE MORE.

Moorish Bandit's Captives Reach Home in Safety.

The Moorish bandit's prisoners are free once more. Mr. Perdiccaris and his son-in-law, Mr Varley, who have enjoyed the forced hospitality of Raisuli for nearly a month, have been released and have reached Tangier and safety once more

The joy of their friends may be imagined. Mr. Perdiccaris has apparently had enough of Morocco or he leaves to-day with his family for Europe Though the American gentleman has suffered many hardships, he says they were caused by no fault of his captor.

Mr. Perdiccaris, who was much fatigued by his long ride, bears out the idea of Raisuli as a good-natured bandit with the fine instincts of a gentleman, who provided him with everything possible in the circumstances.

Mr. Varley, the English prisoner, was very cheerful and bright, as though he had just returned from a picnic. Both captives, however, are much thinner, and Mr. Perdiccaris has aged considerably.

Mr. Perdiccaris was received at his town house by the authorities, the foreign admirals, and by numerous personal friends.

The Moorish servants showed their joy by kissing his hands and clothes. Great thanks are due to the two Shereefs of Wazzan, Mulay Ali and Mulay Achmed, who did their utnost to bring the negotiations to a satisfactory close. Mulay Ali remained in Raisuli's camp throughout the period of Mr. Perdiccaris's capitity, thus saving the captives' lives.

The delay in the arrival of Messrs, Perdiccaris'

The delay in the arrival of Messrs. Perdiccaris and Varley (says Reuter) was apparently only due to a misunderstanding regarding the date fixed for the exchange.

BATCH OF DISAPPEARANCES.

Strange Cases Apparently Due to Lapse of Memory.

Sudden lapses of memory threaten to reach the proportions of an epidemic

Mr. Frank Butler, a newsagent at Bridgend, travelled with his wife last week to Birmingham. left Mrs. Butler at the New-street Station Buffet, saying he was going to get shaved. But he never returned, and has since been met in Piccadilly. A lapse of memory is offered as the only explanation.

explanation.

St. Annes-on-Sea, in Lancashire, is looking for a clerk at the South Shore Railway, who left the goods station saying he would be back in a minute or two. Those minutes have become days, but the young clerk's memory of his home and friends is still defective.

At Neath, in Glamorganshire, a clerk from the Capital and Counties Bank has forgotten to return from his summer holiday, and is considerably overdue.

A Merthyr lady, Mrs. Rhoda Morgan, wife of a sculptor, has most mysteriously disappeared after taking a ticket for Cardiff.

"HANKY PANKY."

Lord Rosebery's Latest Description of the Government.

Lord Rosebery enjoys a popular reputation as a maker of phrases. On Saturday he was the chief speaker at a garden party given by the Earl of Durham at Lambton Castle, and called the Government many names which have the charm of novelty.

of novelty.

It is, said his lordship, a "hanky-panky" Government. It lives by "wrigglings and doublings." It relies on "documents which are not 'documents and documents which are pamphlets."

It is the "Government of despair," which does not hold office for its own comfort or its own satisfaction. It is a Government which every byelection condemns with startling emphasis and unanimity.

DOWIE SUPPRESSED AT SEA.

There is likely to be some diffidence among the Atlantic steamship companies in accepting the Prophet Dowie as a passenger in future.

On the Lucania, in which he arrived at New York on Saturday, the ship's officers had to foreibly repress him, to avoid his sustaining bodily injury from those he insulted.

He was regarded as the greatest nuisance passengers were ever called upon to put up with. He twice went to the door of the smoking-room and shouted to the occupants "stinkpots," "reptiles."

ASSASSINS DINE A KING.

BELGRADE, Sunday.

The 7th Servian Regiment, which carried out the assassination of King Alexander and Queen Draga last June, held its regimental dinner yesterday, with King Peter as the guest of honour.—Reuter.

NO POLITICS.

King Edward's Visit Tantalises German Ministers.

BUT THE PEOPLE CHEER.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

KIEL, Sunday.

In pleasant contrast to yesterday's wretched v ther, Kiel town and harbour were flooded with bril-liant sunshine this afternoon, and though it was cold and a keen wind was blowing there was nothing to mar the gorgeousness of the great fete.

nothing to mar the gorgeousness of the great fete. After divine service in the morning the King and Kaiser were seen chatting gaily together and waching the yacht racing with every appearance of enjoyment. Similarly the many apyal and changuished men of both nations mingled with the greatest cordiality. The German people, who have flocked here in thousands to witness the festivities and filled Kiel to overflowing, cheered enthusiastically whenever their Majesties passed.

The many bands have been brisy playing "God Save the King," and the German's General Save the Ching, and the German's General to their and the theory of the control of the co After divine service in the morning the King and

SATURDAY'S GREAT RECEPTION.

SATURDAY'S GREAT RECEPTION.

From early morning until three o'clock on Saturday afternoon there was a terrific storm of rain and hail, which spoilt all the decorations and drenched the immense crowds of spectators who were waiting for the approach of the Victoria and Albert, which was coming through the Kiel Canal escorted on either side by a sejundron of cavalry. But as the first guns of the royal salute boomed out there was a welcome break in the clouds, and in a glean of sunshine the royal yacht bearing England's king came slowly' and impressively through the long lines of German warships and anchored beside the Kaiser's slip Hohenzollern at the head of the harbour.

The Kaiser went to welcome his royal uncle, and the greeting between the two was most cordial, each repeatedly embracing the other.

The whole reception of King Edward was most enthusiastic

The crowds shouted wildly to much waving of handserchiefs, and through it all sounded impressively the slow booming of the royal salute from the gruss.

To this the band of the Victoria and Albert.

the slow booming of the royal salute from the guns.

To this the band of the Victoria and Albert responded by playing the German National Anthem. Then another rain squall blotted out the view, and the reception was over.

Later King Edward and Kaiser William, accompanied by their distinguished following, went ashore, where the King cordially greeted the Crown Prince of Germany and Prince Henry of Prussia. The guard of honour of the First Regiment of Guards marched past, and then the two Monarchs returned to their yachts.

SPEECHES IN THE EVENING.

In the evening there was a banquet on the Hotenzollern. The Kaiser, proposing the health of his royal guest, welcomed the occasion of King Edward's first visit to a German warship, and expressed his pleasure at seeing the ruler of a great maritime nation come to take part in the sport of yachting. The German Heet, youngest among the world's navies, like the German Army, aimed at the maintenance of peace, which everyone knew was alike the constant endeavour of King Edward and himselt.
King Edward in the view of the control of the con-alike the constant endeavon or a single himself.

King Edward, in thanking the Emperor for his friendly words, said he was glad to be able to pay this visit. He was glad at the opportunity of seeing how yachting had developed in Germany, and at the same time of renewing the friendly relations between the two Houses. He was greatly moved by the reference to his efforts to maintain usage.

In conclusion, King Edward said:

May our two flags in the distant future float together upholding peace, not only in the interests of our own, but also of other nations. No more detailed reference to international affairs was made, and it was understood that politics were not to be made a subject for discussion.

LORD CROMER TO VISIT ENGLAND.

A telegram from Cairo states that Lord Cromer will leave for England on July 3, travelling by way of Marseilles.

BABEL IN BEING.

Salvationists of All Tongues and Colours Hear the General.

EXTRAORDINARY SCENES.

"All that I say is interesting," declared General Booth on Saturday afternoon in opening the great temporary building erected in the Strand for the International Congress of the Salvation Army

No less interesting was the vast cosmopolitan gathering he addressed.

The army preaches the Gospel in forty-nine countries, and employs no fewer than thirty-one languages in the task. As the General spoke he looked down upon representatives of all these peoples and tongues.

As they filed into the hall the eye was bewildered by the brightness and variety of their cos-tumes. The dominant note in the colour scheme was red-the glowing scarlet of the Salvation

It flushed the dark khaki of the strong American contingent as well as the light brown of the Australians. Even the sky-blue French uniforms were faced with vermilion, and the same colour lit up the dark green of the Swiss, notable for the bunch Curiosities of Costume.

Red slashed liberally with white made the Danes the most conspicuous group in the building. The Germans were quieter in tone, but contained in their ranks some of the most curiously attired soldiers present.

Who, for instance, was the gentleman in blue serge knee breeches and white lace stockings, with a red jersey and a black tail-coat, who crowned his incongruities with a white bell-topper hat a foot high?

A converted bookmaker, perhaps, for a pugilist, a devil-dancer, and an editor were among the converts in the hall.

The Italian brigade, with white sheepskin coats and gay ribbons decking their sugar-loaf hats, looked more like prowling brigands than peaceful Salvationists. With them were Misericordia bruthers, clad from head to foot in flowing black and white robes, fitted with hoods that hid all the features except the eyes.

cries.
With one accord every soldier shouts "Amen."
"Now sing it again," he commands, raising I is right hand,.
The affirmative gesture is repeated by the whole great army, and the old man's eyes flash at the forest of uplifted hands and the stirring music.

Three Knocks for the Devil.

Three Knocks for the Devil.

"Isn't it grand?" he calls. "Sing it again, with three knocks on the head for the devil."

Louder and more fervently still the hymn is repeated, and the very building seems to shake when the three final staves are beaten out upon the wooden floor by 5,000 feet.

"They say we are losing ground," he cries in scom. "Listen to this."

The statement that follows is a comparison of the state of the army ten years ago and at present, telling a wonderful story of ground gained in every direction.

Flashes of humour light the speech from beginow sixpence in the ring as you pass," t ladvises. "The band alone is worth it— if not in quality."

one is more amused at this sally than the nen, for good humour is the keynote of the neeting.

After the General come the men and women who are to him what his marshals were to Napoleon.

As they come forward and speak, one after another, one grasps the fact that brains, as well as fire and conviction, are exercised to the full in the work of the army.

These men and women would be notable in any walk of life.

An incident near the close of the meeting illustrates the General's readiness in grasping the right thing to do and his promptness in doing it.

Captain Yamamura, editor of the Japanese "War Cry," was addressing the meeting, and opened with an allusion to the war.

War Talk Barred.

War Talk Barred.

This caused the General obvious uneasiness, but when the speaker went on to say "The Japanese have opened their hearts to all good things; they close nothing—except Port Arthur," the General fairly hustled him of the platform.

One more hymn, splendidly sung, and the collection, which the General made a fine feint of forgetting, closed this cheery meeting.

NOT "THERE."

Fair Telephone Operators Go On

Eighty "hello-girls," to borrow the American term, struck work at the Holborn Telephone Ex change on Saturday.

Temporary confusion was the result. For a time bells rang and lights glowed to no purpose, and anxious subscribers failed to receive even the stereo-typed answer of "Engaged."

Then the services of a staff of learners were hastily

The cause of the strike was an increase made by the company, and the work was somehow carried on for the day.

The cause of the strike was an increase made by the company in the time of work, amounting to an hour—and in some instances an hour and a halfaday. The increase of work carries no corresponding increase in salary.

The Girls' Demands.

The girls Demands.

The girls who have struck demand the reduction of their hours to the former figure of eight and a half hours a day, and five on Saturday.

They raise no question of any addition to their pay, which amounts, on an average, to about 17s, a week.

When the girls left their work on Saturday morning they obtained the use of a vacant office on the floor below the Holborn Exchange, which they employed as a committee roading.

ployed as a committee room.

During the day the manager of the Telephone Company received a deputation of the strikers, and refused to concede the shorter hours they demanded.

Later in the afternoon each of the strikers re-Later in the atternoon each of the strikers re-ceived a notification from the superintendent, Mr. C. B. Clays. It announced that the services of all operators who did not resume work on Monday morning would be dispensed with, and contained an offer to consider any grievances properly laid before the company by three representatives.

Devil-Dancer,
The devil-dancer, with his bow and arrows, aught all eyes, and so did Joe the Turk—a mountin of man in baggy red trousers and top boots, ho carried a cornet and a gaily-painted umbrella. A group of lassies in red and violet skirts, and earing peculiar straw hats of a mushroom shape, hade a brilliant splash of colour among the more moventional gowns of dark blue. They came from he Austrian highlands.

By four o'clock all had taken their places, and sudden hush, followed by a roar of welcome, mounced the arrival of the General.

He stepped smartly forward to the pulpit, and once dominated the meeting.
The first impression created by the croaking god in the first impression created by the carnestness of the man, and his humour, and his fire.

His people hang upon his words and his actions. A hymn seems to him to drag; he kindles it new fire with his beating hand.

He repeats the words: "He breaks the power of cancelled sin, the seis the prisoner free."
"If you really believe that, say 'Amen,' "be cries.

With none accord every soldier shouts "Amen."
"Now sing it again," he commands, raising I is supported to the company by three tops and the powers of the continuous that the surface of the company by three to have been considered by the strikers, and it does not appear likely that many of them will toem of the mill the man gare, splained to a Mirror representative that the advantages they received.

They are able, for instance, to obtain lunch and an interest the same time he admitted that the hours of 2s. 3d. a week, so that their salary is really greater than it looks on paper.

At the same time he admitted that the hours of an advance, the same time he admitted that the hours of 2s. 4d. a week, so that their salary is really acceptance, the same time he admitted that the hours of 2s. 3d. a week, so that their salary is really acceptance, the same time he admitted that the hours of 2s. 4d. a week, so that their salary is really acceptance, the same time he admitted that the hours of 2s. 4d. a week,

SUICIDE'S CRAFT.

An inquest was held on Saturday in Bodmin Prison upon the body of Robert Bullen, a poacher, who was recently sentenced to ten years' penal servitude for the manslaughter of a gamekeeper. On Friday morning a warder found Bullea hanging by a piece of string from the ventilator of the cell, about 7it, 6in, from the floor. He had evidently moved his table to the door of the cell, and, fastening the string to the ventilator, slid down the side of the table in a position in which he could not be seen by a warder going the rounds.

He had been engaged the previous day in sewing sacks, and so had obtained the string. The jury returned a verdict of Felo-de-se.

FOUND ON THE DOORSTEP.

The police are endeavouring to trace the where-abouts of the mother of a four months old female child found late at night on the deorstep of a house in Brussells-road, Clapham Junction. The infant was warmly clad, and wrapped in a woollen shawl, but none of the articles bore any mark that would assist the authorities in their inquiries. The infant, who has blue eyes and a fair complexion, is at present in the workhouse infarmary.

2,000 MILES RUN.

"Mirror" Motorists in Heavy Storms.

ROADSIDE INCIDENTS.

Mr. Weigel and his fellow travellers in the Mirror motor-car on the 2,000 miles non-stop run experienced terrible weather in the North of England on Saturday and yesterday.

The car arrived in Perth on the second trip from London at 3 a.m. yesterday, and after a very short stay set off again for the journey south.

On reaching London-if all goes well, at five o'clock this morning—the car will go to Portsmouth and back, when the unique performance—2,017 miles without stopping the engines—will be com-miles without stopping the engines—will be complete.

This will be the world's record for a non-stop run, and a great feat of endurance for the men who have travelled for five days and nights in an open car in all sorts of weather.

Telegraphing from Durham last night, the Mirror correspondent said that the car encountered a heavy storm shortly after leaving London on Friday, and the rain continued, on and "off, throughout the night and the greater part of Saturday and yesterday.

The roads were very heavy, and the car skidded in a dangerous manner when turning corners. All Northallerton an agent was waiting at 5 a.m. with hot bovril and sandwiches. Owing to a heavy downpour of rain a halt was made for forty-five minutes at Durham.

Cutting Wind and Rain.

The force of the north-east wind and cutting rain was so great that neither Mr. Weigel nor his engineer could face it for more than an hour at a was so great that hether Mr. Weigel had he engineer could face it for more than an hour at a stretch.

At Darlington, Durham. Newcastle, and all places along the route people were waiting in the rain to see the Mirror car go by. The engines of the 20-h.p. Talbot have stood the strain splendidg. The weather cleared after leaving Newcastle, and the roads were a little better. Berwick was the dark of the strain splendidg to the strength of the wind progress was very long to the strength of the wind progress was very long to the strength of the wind progress was very long to the strength of the wind progress was very long to the strength of the wind progress was very long to the strength of the wind progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the strength of the progress was very long to the number of drunken men on the roads.

It was 3 am, before Perth was reached, and three-quarters of an hour later, after some hot coffee, bovril, and Peter's milk chocolate had been taken by the travellers, the car was turned south, and the second journey to London commenced. The weather was bright and warm yesterday morning, and the car made a splendid run back to Edinburgh, which was reached at 7 a.m. In spite of the earliness of the hour hundreds of people turned out to see the car pass again.

Expectant Berwick.

Expectant Berwick.

Shortly after eleven the car ran into Berwick. The streets were lined with people waiting to see the record-breakers speed by.

Between Berwick and Newcastle there was a very.

Just outside Durham a tyre-cover burst, and this caused a slight delay. Anasteur photographers took advantage of the stop to take mapshots.

So far, the engines had not been stopped for a second, and the handle in front of the ear is buried in mud, through not having been used.

The Mirror motor-car should be at Hammer-emith Bridge on its return from Pottsmouth shortly after eleven this morning, and at the Mirror Office about noon, when at the word of the editor the engines will be at has stopped, and the record-breaking trip ended.

THREE HOURS IN COLD WATER.

While out in the sea on Saturday afternoon, Haggerty, who has been chosen by the "Weekly Dispatch" for the Channel swim, was accompanied for a short distance by a well-known Stalybridge swimmer, who had come over to Blackpool to watch the Lancashire man's progress.

After being in the water for ten minutes or so, however, the Stalybridge friend was overcome by the coldness of the water, and he had to be assisted by Haggerty back into the boat. The "Weekly Dispatch" candidate, however, withstood the cold for over three hours, during which time he swam about five miles without feeling any ill effect. He is in excellent health, and is looking forward to the great swim with confidence.

A double drowning fatality has occurred at Jersey, John Renouf, aged sixty-four, the caretaker of the West End Bathing Pool in St. Aubin's Bay, and his son George, aged twelve, being the

"GOVERNED BY BREWERS."

Sir Wilfrid Lawson's View of the Licensing Bill.

Twenty platforms were erected at Hyde Park on Saturday for the demonstration arranged by the United Kingdom Alliance against the Licensing

The crowd, however, was hardly as great as was expected, owing, possibly, to the inclemency of the

The demonstrators arrived at the Park in procession from no fewer than seventy starting places, each party being led by one or more bands each party being led by one or more bands.

That which started from the Embankment and passed by the usual route through Clubland was the most imposing. It included many leaders of the tectotal movement in carriages, and numerous banners with more or less appropriate mottoes.

Sir Wilfrid Lawson, the veteran temperance humourist, naturally attracted the largest audience to his platform. He opened his speech in characteristic style. "This is a free country—governed by brewers." He then proceeded to denounce the political tendencies of London in sending fifty Conservative members to Parliament.

The resolution which, at the signal of a bugle call, was put and carried at each platform; generally protested against the principles of the Bill. It miged that the Bill would "per had effective control by the public over the lique traffic which is necessary in the interests of moral and social well-being."

A photograph of the procession on the Embankment appears on page 3.

CLAPTON "MESSIAH."

Holding Strange Midnight Ceremonies at the "Abode of Love."

Spaxton, Somersetshire, the retreat of Pigott, the Clapton "Messiah," is aroused from its usual quiet by the advent there of a large number of disciples of the Agapemonite creed.

The Messiah's temple is brilliantly lighted at night, and the "Abode of Love," as Pigott calls his retreat, is the scene of many strange ceremonies, which are attended by numbers of ladies from London.

Many of the rustics of Spaxton are firmly convinced that Pigott is possessed of Divine powers and look forward confidently to miracles and revelations.

lations.

To a Mirror representative an old farm labourer said solemnly, "I and many more here believe that the Messiah has really come again to save us all from our sins, but the wicked have rejected him."

Pigott will see no one but his disciples, and his doors are closed to all strangers. It is believed that he will shortly come to London.

FERRYBOAT DISASTER.

One Hundred and Sixty Lives Lost in Crossing a River.

ST. PETERSBURG, Saturday.

A terrible disaster has occurred on the River Khoper, one of the tributaries of the Don, near the station of Zotova, in the Rostoff-on-Don dis-

Two hundred and fifty persons, mostly pilgrims from adjacent villages, and including many women and children, were precipitated into the river while crossing in a ferry boat, the bottom of which was in a rotten condition and fell out.

Many persons were carried away by the current and were dashed to pieces against a mill-wheel or were drowned in the mill-race. Sixty bodies have already been found, and 100 are missing.—Reuter.

CHARING CROSS OVER THE WATER.

At to-morrow's meeting of the London County Council Mr. Greenwood will propose a resolution suggesting that the Council'should frame a scheme for the acquisition by the Council of Charing Cross Station and Hungerford Bridge, providing the railway company with a site for a new terminus station on the Waterloo side of the river, and crecting for general traffic a new road-bridge of sufficient width to take a double line of tramway, 197 that the Council's tramways from Aldwych to Waterloo could be linked together.

MME. CALVE'S RENTREE.

A huge audience, which included the Queen, gathered at Covent Garden on Saturday night to witness Mme. Calve's rentrée as "Carmen." On Saturday night she was in the best of voice and acted delightfully.

An interesting debut on the same evening was that of Miss Agnes Nicholls, who has a voice of great beauty, and when her acting is as good as her singing she should be a valuable acquisition to Grand Opera.

MM. Dufriche, Scotti, Gilibert, and Reiss completed an excellent cast.

LOVE AND THE RAILWAY.

Strange Sequel to a Little Error in Shunting.

MESSRS. OSBORN AGAIN.

William Robert Reece, who has been arrested just as he was starting for America, was charged at Bow-street on remand with committing wilful perjury when giving evidence in the High Court, where he had claimed £5,000 damages from the L. and N.W. Railway Company on account of injuries received in an accident.

The prisoner, who wore coloured glasses, limped into the dock and frequently complained that he was unable to hear what was being said. He declared that he had been ruined through the accident in question and the expenses of the action, and he applied to the magistrate for legal aid.

Mr. Fenwick said he would consider that matter at the close of the case.

Mr. Grain, who appeared for the company, said he believed the prisoner's real name was Rosenberg, but he had passed under various aliases, including Reece, Morant, Maynard, Richards, and others. He had been three times bankrupt under different names in this country and once in Singa-

On His Way to Ada.

On His Way to Ada.

In August of last year prisoner lived at Brighton, but he kept a woman—sometimes called Ada, and sometimes Ada Recec—at Willesden. On the 8th of the month named—a Saturday—he intended to travel from Preston to Willesden for the purpose of seeing this woman, by a train leaving Euston at one o'ctock in the afternoon. The train was very full, and it was necessary to couple a few extra carriages to it. A little error in shumting the trucks, and this led to a concussion. The result was that the prisoner was sent forward from his seat, then thrown back, and afterwards his head was struck against the side of the carriage. There was no abrasion of any kind, but he was rendered unconscious.

was no abrasion of any kind, but he was rendered unconscious.

Upon arrival, at Willesden, which was his destination, he was at his request taken by a porter to see a doctor. After leaving the doctor's he made a statement to the effect that he had had a severe shaking up and he intended to make the railway company pay. He obtained the extremely valuable services of Messrs. Osborn and Osborn, solicitors, and the writ was served in due course. His claim for £5,000 was made under three heads. The first was that, as a result of the accident, he had become a confirmed cripple and could not walk without the aid of a stick; the second, that his hearing had been greatly impaired; and the third, that his eyesight had also been impaired; rendering him unable to carry on his business as a dealer in diamonds and jewellery, in which business he had enmed during the previous year between £500 and £1,000.

Could He Run?

Could He Run?

The railway company, feeling somewhat suspicious, had the prisoner watched by three or four detectives and by some of their employees, and the result was that he was seen on many occasions to be walking without the aid of a stick and without any kind of difficulty. He had alighted on an onnibus and trams while they were in motion; he had considered the still the still

LOST HIS MEMORY.

Asserting he was perfectly innocent, James Chapman, of Purley, was committed for trial by Mr. Kennedy, before whom he was charged on remand with breaking into a Regent-street jeweller's shop. When he was arrested, in a top room of the premises, he expressed surprise. "I don't know how I came in," he said, "I must have lost my memory."

MOTHER'S FOOLISH DESPAIR.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

VIENNA, Saturday.

Too hastily jumping at conclusions has cost a Vienna mother named Schmidt her life. Seeing her baby licking a box containing car-bonate of potassium, she believed it had poisoned itself, and, rushing to a loft, happed herself in despair.

The child, however, remains perfectly well.

THE CHAUFFEUR AS LOTHARIO.

How a Husband's Happiness Was Wrecked by His Drivers-Three Other Couples Parted.

Some little time ago public attention was called to the worful lot of handsome chauffcurs who, bestares of their good looks, found themselves handiapped in obtaining positions which might entail the driving of fair ladies.

Mindful of the unpleasant success of his Ship-lake sudden return, Mr. Morford planned a similar stratagem. He returned one night unexpectedly to his country house, the Laurels, near Pinner. Going into the workroom—a room adjoining Blake's bedroom—he listened. to the woeful lot of handsome chauffeurs who, because of their good looks, found themselves handicapped in obtaining positions which might entail the driving of fair ladies.

the driving of fair ladies.

That there was something to be said on the side of the jealous motorists who refused to employ them was demonstrated in Mr. Justice Barnes's Court on Saturday, when the owner of a motor brought a suit for divorce against his wife, making two chauffeurs, who had successively been in his employment, co-respondents.

The husband's name was Walter Morford. He is a pleasant-looking gentleman, who can afford to keep riverside bungalows and houseboats, as well as motors and chauffeurs.

He was married to his wife, Minnie Eliza, in 1889 at Putney, he told the Court, and he settled down with her at Fulham. Here three little children were born to them.

CHAUFFEUR NO. I.

OBACHFEGUR NO. 1.

James Frost, the first chauffeur co-respondent, did not come into Mr. Morford's service originally as a chauffeur. In 1901 he was engaged as coachman, and became chauffeur in the following year, when Mr. Morford bought a motor-car.

Frost had just got accustomed to his chauffeuring duties when Mr. Morford became ill, and had to duties when Mr. Morford became ill, and had to take a sea voyage.

On returning to England he found that his chauffeur had become so skilful that, in the course of driving Mrs. Morford about Norfolk, where she had been staying with her children, he had incurred the displeasure of the local police, and received a summons to attend a police court to answer a charge of furious diving.

summons to attend a police court to answer a charge of furious driving.

One of Mrs. Morford's first communications to her husband was that her presence, too, was required at the police court. So to Norfolk mistress and chauffeur went.

Mr. Morford thus discovered that his wife and the chauffeur had been a good deal together, and his suspicions became aroused.

A NIGHT SURPRISE.

A NIGHT SURPRISE.

Not long after his return he was staying with his family at a bungalow at Shiplake on the river, where he had a houseboat. A dinner, which he was anxious to attend, took place in town, so he announced that he would be away for a night. Instead of remaining in London he returned y the last train to Shiplake, and found the bungalow shut up and all the lights out. Going to the river side he woke one of the servants, who was sleeping on the houseboat, and, with her, returned to the bungalow. Then he broke in the window of his wife's bedroom, and inside were found Mrs. Morford and the chauffeur Frost. A painful scene followed. Mrs. Morford begged for her husband's forgiveness for the sake of the clildren, and for the sake of her future. Ultimately she prevailed on him to condone her offence.

Blake's bedroom—he listened.

Soon there were noises in the next room, and he realised that Mrs, Morford had entered, and was with her chauffeur lover.

Mr. Morford, as before, obtained another servant as a witness, and when Mrs. Morford came out—she had heard him calling the servant—she was confronted by her husband.

At first she stoutly denied, with Blake, that any wrong had been done, but before the night was out Mr. Morford got them both to sign a document of confession.

Condonation was now out of the question, and so he came with his plaint to the Divorce Court, where Mr. Justice Barnes granted him a decree nist.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE.

When Mr. John Horan Davies asked for a divorce from his wife on account of her misconduct with his brother, Hugh Davies, a sad story of deceit and betrayal of brother by brother was gradually told to the Court.

Mr. and Mrs. Davies were married in 1887 at All Saints' Church, Lancaster, and for some time were fairly happy, although the husband found that his wife was extravagant.

Then he began to suspect that a much more serious charge could be brought against her, and his suspicions were confirmed by a letter from one of his relatives.

serious charge could be brought against her, and his suspicions were confirmed by a letter from one of his relatives.

On receiving this letter he forthwith charged his wife with misconduct with his brother.

Her reply was, "If you will tell me who told you, I will tell you all about it," but Mr. Davies refused to divulge the source of his information, and thereupon Mrs. Davies said, "Very well, I will deny it." She then left the house.

Mr. Davies afterwards found out that his wife and his brother had stayed together at the Westmister Hotel, Chester, for several nights during September, 1901. Afterwards he received written confessions from both.

Mr. Davies obtained his decree.

TWO SAD CASES.

Mrs. Mary Helen Warr, whose application for a divorce was successful, said her husband had not lived with her for the last fifteen years. His name is Joseph Armand Baer, and he is a French-man by birth. Besides conducting a theatitical agency, he has also made his living by giving lec-

In 1897 he told his wife, who had asked him to come back to her for the sake of their daughter, that he was going to France "to marry another Offence.

CHAUFFEUR No. 2.

Woman.' Mrs. Phyllis Carter asked for a divorce from her husband, William Thomas Robert Carter, who is an actor. They were married in 1900, and then, it was stated, Mr. Carter treated his wife, who was chauffeur, but in the early part of 1903 he determined to engage a man named William Blake. To his amazement he soon found that Mrs. Morford had become infatuated with this man also!

LOVED THE CAT'S-WEAT WOMAN.

Norwood Draper Runs Away After Sixteen Years' Wedded Life.

At the South-Western Police Court Walter Frank Redknap was charged with deserting his wife. They had been married for sisteen years. All went well till Redknap became attracted by the wife of the local cat's-meat man. He presently disappeared from Norwood, where he was trading as a draper. He had now been found at Stoke Poges, as a beerhouse keeper. Mr. Watson submitted that there had been no leval desertion.

Mr. Watsh submittee that legal descrition.
"Why, it has been proved," said Mr. Hanne, "up to the hilt. He has gone off with the other lady. After sixteen years of happy wedded life the husband falls in love with the woman employed to clean up the place."
In the end, Mr. Garrett granted Mrs. Redknap a judicial separation with alimony and costs.

MUSIC-HALL SINGERS FIGHT.

The lower ranks of the music-hall profession cannot imitate Miss Kate Lawrence's High Court action over "Oh, Charlie, come to me," but they take it out in blows and police court actions.

At South Shields on Saturday a pretty quarrel of this kind was fought between Victoria Monks and Matty Oxberry, appearing at the local Empire, the former charging the latter with assault following on her singing the same music as complainant.

Professional jealousy was a ggested as the cause of the trouble, and it was urged that the song in question was a free song. Eventually defendant was asked to pay 5s. to the poor box, and the case was dismissed.

"SO MR. SLATER SAYS."

Affair of Pass-Books in "Detective and Divorce" Case.

The Slater case was heard for the fifteenth time at Bow-street on Saturday.

Thomas Harvey Pritchard, head pass-book-keeper at the chief office of the London and Westminster Bank, Lothbury, produced duplicates of two of Slater's pass-books, dated from September, 1901, to July, 1902, and from August to November of the latter year.

The names of the persons in whose favour the cheques were drawn did not appear, and Mr. Guy Stephenson said he would have to serve the defence, with notice to produce the original passbooks, as the copies were of little use.

Mr. Muir (for Slater): You will remember that one of the pass-books is missing.
Mr. Stephenson: So Mr. Slater says.
Mr. Muir: So Mr. Cartwright, his former cashier, says.
In cross-examination by Mr. Muir Mr. Pritchard said that an application had been made by Slater to the bank for a copy of a missing pass-book. They were unable to supply him with one, but sent him a copy of the ledger.

After the reading of voluminous evidence given by the six prisoners in the King's' Proctor's case the Court rose till next Saturday. The names of the persons in whose favour the

At the hearing of a number of betting cases at Wednesbury it was stated that some of the defen-dants had posted themselves on the church steps to receive bets, much to the annoyance of the parishioners.

1,400 FALSE FLORINS.

Coiners Caught with Metal Hot and Moulds Ready for Counterfeiting.

Through the smart work of Detective-inspector Knell and Detective-sergeants Beard and Woolard, a dangerous gang of South London coiners has been broken up. After three months patient watching and shadowing they were able on Friday night to make two arrests, and the prisoners were charged at Lambeth Police Court on Saturday morning. The scene of the arrests was a flat at 32, Evelina-mansions, New Church-road, Camberwell, and the prisoners, Henry Harrison, fortyeight, described as a moulder, and Mary Harrison a widow, who lived with him, were charged with using the flat for manufacturing counterfeit coin and having in their possession 1,400 counterfeit florins.

A complete coiner's outfit found in the flat was

A complete coiner's outlit found in the flat was produced in court by the police; it included a milling instrument, plaster of Paris, metal moulds, and chemicals.

Detective-inspector Knell, stated that on Wednesday evening last he and the other two officers followed Mary Harrison' from Evelina-mansions to London Bridge railway station, where she uttered two counterfeit florins, one at the Brighton side-refreshment bar and the other at the buffet on the South-Eastern side. The two florins were produced.

Police Enter with a False Key.

Police Enter with a Faise Key.

The following morning about ten o'clock Henry-Harrison was seen to enter Evelina-mansions with a small paper parcel under his arm. Three hours later Mary Harrison lett with two jugs. Thereupon Inspector Knell went to the front door with Sergeant Beard and opened it with a false key. Beyond an inner door which they had to force they found the man Harrison covered with a sheet and a blanket, and seized and handcuffed him.

Shortly afterwards the woman returned with the jugs, followed by Detective-sergeant Woolard.

"I was not at London Bridge," said the woman, when she was told of the charge, upon her arrest.

"You have been very smart," she added later.

"Who informed you?"

Inspector Knell gave graphic evidence as to the contents of the flat. Moulds and saucepans of hot metal stood ready. Of the 1,400 counterfeit florins found in the place some were in neat packets of two dozen completed, others were unfinished.

The prisoners were remanded for a week.

"We have not blued any in lately. We are going to make some to-morrow, and you can drop them."

them."
This remark, made by John Reid, a costermonger, in a Borough public-house, and overheard by a detective, led to a police raid on another South London coining den.
Reid was watched when he left the public-house, and was succeed when he retructed fourteen counterfeit coins. At his room in Tracy-street, Kemington-road, the police found a complete coin-ing outh, and in a dustbin in the yard ten broken moulds. He was committed for trial.

CHEAP MATCHES.

Motor Waggoners Said to Have Dealt in Their Employers' Goods.

Three motor men - Alfred Hussey, James M'Millar, and William Eggleton-in the employ of Messrs. Bryant and May were charged on Saturday at Worship-street with being concerned in stealing a quantity of their employers' matches. With them, Charles Austin, an oilman, was charged as receiver of the matches. He was a mer of the firm.

Patrick Crowley said that six weeks ago he went out with Hussey to deliver goods on Austin, went out with Hussey to deliver goods on Austin, whose transactions were in cash.

Austin paid by cheque on that occasion, and Hussey carried the goods in. On Hussey handing witness the cheque he said "Can you do with a few shillings?" and witness remarked that of course he could. Thereupon the prisoner Hussey handed him 5s., and told him to put it in his pocket. When pressed he said he had done a bit, and witness told him he had better not do it again, or he would get himself into trouble.

A signed statement by Hussey was read involving. Eggleton, and Detective-inspector Nicholls, J. division, deposed to the arrest.

The prisoners were remanded on bail.

The Hands

Fels-Naptha is kind to skin and clothes, notwithstanding its sharpness in washing.

Go by the book.

Fels-Naptha 39 Wilson street London E Q

MUCH NEWS IN FEW WORDS.

Actors v. Actresses will play a cricket match at the Actors' Orphanage Fund garden-party in, the otanic Gardens on July 8.

Madame Sarah Bernhardt will lay the foundation stone of Mr. W. Clarkson's new premises in War-dour-street next Saturday.

At Sotheby's Rooms to morrow a Victoria Cross, hich was awarded to Sergeant Mullane, R.H.A., or conspicuous bravery at Maiwand, will be sold y auction.

Every English composer of note has promised to attend at the great meeting to be held in the Queen's Hall on July 4, to protest against the mutilation of the Musical Copyright Bill:

"BIRTHDAY" HONOUR FOR DYING MAN.

His relatives had only just time to tell J. Thring, a Grimsby postman, that the King had conferred on him the Imperial Service Order for long and faithful service, when the postman died.

He had been lying seriously ill for some days nost

POLICE STOP A FUNERAL.

Margaret Cross, the wife of an attendant at Whittingham County Asylum, was to have been buried on Saturday, but the police stepped in and stopped the funeral.

The Preston coroner received information which led to this interruption, and a post-mortem examination has been ordered. A miscarriage was said to be the cause of death.

DIED THROUGH HELPING CHARITY.

If ever dog deserved honour it is surely due to "Spot," the rough terrier who used to help the Sainsbury Infirmary by collecting coppers.

He had collected over £53 for the institution, and in 1897 he won first prize at Earl's Court in a competition for hospital-collecting dogs.

Now he has died, a martyr to duty, through inflammation caused by picking up coppers with his mouth.

NAVAL VOLUNTEERS REHEARSING.

Some 500 members of the London Division of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserves paraded under the command of the Hon. Royert Guinness at the Horse Guards on Saturday.

After twenty minutes' drill the men, who presented a very smart appearance in their new uniforms, marched off to the Embankment, where the iprogramme arranged for next Saturday, when B.M.S. Buzzard is to be visited by the First Lord of the Admiralty and the Lord Mayor, was re-

TOO OLD TO WORK.

When charged with attempting to commit suicide by jumping into the canal at Newton Heath Sarah Reeves said she was too old to work, and her children had not helped her as they should. She was discharged, and the city aldermy warmly commended her rescuer, John Kennedy. This plucky labourer, hearing a woman was in the because the standard of the said of the said of the said his clothes on, dived in where he saw bubles and his clothes on, dived in where he saw bubles and his clothes on, dived in where succeeded in bringing the insensible woman to the surface. He was presented with a guinea by the Court.

SAID THE DEVIL PROMPTED HIM.

Emily Lee, the wife of a Birmingham bootdealer, told the magistrates that outside his door her hus-band had a hamp bearing the words "Glory to God in His Holiness," and he used to tell her that God wanted him to sit up all night reading and God wanted him to see up all night reading and praying.

He also told her he had meditated taking her life. The devil urged him to do it, but God came along and stopped him, as he had other work for him to do. On another occasion the devil told him to hold the bedelothes tightly over him, or his wife would cut his throat.

A separation order was granted, the husband being ordered to pay 40s. per week.

LIVERPOOL TO MANCHESTER BY AIR.

In a boatshed at the Tower Gardens, Blackpool, is housed a new airship awaiting a calm day for its first trip. It has been built by Messrs. Auguste E. Gaudron and Charles, W. Beckman, and weights only 476lb.

The ramework is constructed of bicycle tubing. The airship has three propellers, one of powerful dimensions at the rear, driven by a 5-h.p. petrol motor, and two amidships, each driven by 24-h.p. motors; and between the two latter the skipper stands and manipulates the great moder with cords, or starts and restarts the engine. Placed just behind the big 5ft, propeller the rudder receives the full force of the air current, whilst the two side motors can be stopped or started separately to assist in the steering.

The balloon is eylindrical, with a pointed nose, and it is hoped under favourable conditions to force passages from Liverpool to Manchester,

Mr. Justice Wright, whose condition has been o serious, is steadily improving in health.

Mr. Frederick Sandys, the well-known painter, has died from heart-failure, at the age of seventy-two. 'Among his principal works were "Morgan le Fay," 'Cassandra," and 'Gentle Spring.'

For having his lamp within two feet of the swing of his pick, a Chapeltown miner-has been fined. The pit being of a fiery nature, he might have broken the lamp and endangered the lives of 200

Sir John E. Grey Hill, one of the "Birthday" knights, was, when travelling eight years ago with his wife near Jerusalem, captured by a band of Bedouins, and had to pay ransom, which he endeayoured, in vain, to recover from the Turkish Government.

FORTUNE FOR TEN SHILLINGS.

Mr. Charles J. Feret, a well-known collector, of Margate, is said to have just purchased at a local mart, at the absurd price of 10s., a landscape oil painting signed by John Constable, R.A. The picture, which, if genuine, is probably worth a thousand pounds, was executed in 1839. It appears to have been turned out of a house, where it had lain neglected as lumber.

350 FATHERS WANTED.

On Saturday the Southwark, Lambeth, Bethnal Green, Hackney, and Wandsworth boards of guar-dians were offering 41 per head for the conviction of, altogether, three hundred and fifty fathers who have left their wives and children chargeable to the unions.

LORD METHUEN'S ADVICE.

When Lord Methuen had unveiled the memorial at Clifton College on Saturday to the old Cliftonians who fell in the South African war, he made a speech to the boys.

He strongly urged the necessity of public school masters includating patriotism, and said this could not be better shown than by every boy belonging to a Volunteer corps. Public schools, he said, should in this be an example to the youth of the country.

SALT CURE FOR DUST.

To lay the dust on the roads round Widnes the local authorities have been using a solution of chloride of calcium. It has been found that one watering with this will keep the roads moist and lay the dust for about three weeks.

Chloride of calcium has the property of altraeting moisure from its surroundings, whilst it is very difficult to dry. It is a waste product, but in view of the valuable use now found for it, it will not be turned into the sewers.

Experiments have been carried out with west-ramite, pyne oiline, and kerosene, but gaginst 41 these their smells have been urged as an objection. The calcium compound does not injure bicycle and motor tyres, whilst it lesses rather than increases the danger of "skidding."

MAN OF MANY DISEASES.

"He had nearly all the complaints under the sun," said the coroner at the inquest on the body of Charles Lawrence, of Bow, who was employed by the Poplar Electric Light Co.

Evidence showed that the dead man, who was only thirty-five, had, at different times, suffered from paralysis, laryngitis, chronic nephritis, rheumatic fever six times, yellow fever, malaria twice, enteric twice, and double pneumonia.

The doctor who made the post-mortem examinations and Lawrence had died from laryngitis, edema of the glottis, nephritis, pericarditis, and pleurisy, accelerated by the administration of an amesthetic.

The anaesthetic had hastened his death by about

The angesthetic had hastened his death by about two hours, and a verdict of Accidental Death was returned.

From June 4 to 18 the clerk to the L.C.C. regis tered 199 motor-cars and 178 motor-cycles, making a total of 3,619 and 2,606 respectively registered.

For showing an indecent print to a woman in a public-house, Archibald Oldhouse, a Holloway coachbuilder, was on Saturday fined 40s.

"A friendless grumbler" was the description of John Hart, aged sixty-nine, who committed suicide in the Marylebone Workhouse by jumping over the bannisters.

At to-morrow's meeting of the L.C.C. the Public Health Committee will ask for authority to expend a sum of £120 upon an inquiry as to the purity of beds from which water-cress is supplied to London.

CAN THIS BE TRUE?

It is reported that the new educational authorities have ordered the removal of a picture of Christ from the walls of the Rutland-street Board School, Stepney, in order that the susceptibilities of the alien and Hebrew children attending the school should not be offended.

CROSSED IRISH SEA 20,000 TIMES.

Captain Clay, commodore officer of the London and North-Western Railway Co.'s fleet of steamers running between Holyhead and Ireland, is retiring this week.

He has crossed the Irish Sea over 20,000 times as commander, and has navigated the vessels of the railway company about 1,500,000 miles, carrying over 1,250,000 passengers.

FATHER AND SON SENTENCED.

James Wellington, late steward to Sir Redvers Buller, was sat Devon Assizes sentenced to six months' hard labour for appropriating trust funds to his own page.

to his own use.

His son, James Wellington, jun., a solicitor, was charged with aiding and abetting him, and with misappropriation on his own account. He was given six years' penal servitude.

FAIR SINGER'S DIGNITY HURT.

Mme, Kirkby Lunn, who had been engaged for the forthcoming Leeds Musical Festival, has with-drawn, so it is stated, in consequence of "a diffi-culty regarding her position" on the programme. The explanation of the officials is that Mme. Lunn took offence at her name being placed after that of Miss Muriel Foster, with whom she was to sing. She claimed the position of leading vocalist, and when Miss Foster expressed her willingness to take second place Mme. Lunn still pressed her resignation, which has been accepted.

ALDERMAN'S FIRST PLUNGE.

Built at a cost of £60,000, the splendid new public baths in Mansfield-street, Kingsland, were opened on Saturday by the Mayor of Shoreditch. The swimming bath is 100tt, long by 35ft, wide, and the building is said to be the finest of its kind in London.

After the opening ceremony Alderman Wakeling, the vice-chairman of the committee, made the first plunge into the water, his performance being loudly cheered.

WHY HE LIKED WAGNER.

At the hundred and sixty-sixth anniversary of the Society of Musicians, which was held at the Hotel Metropole on Saturday, Mr. Edmund Owen told of an amusing reason given by a workman for his admiration of Wagner.

The workman was found vociferously applauding one of that great composer's most resounding ornestras.

He was asked why he admired Wagner's works so much, but he did not know who Wagner was. It being explained to him that that was the composer of the music he had just applauded, he said—"Oh! I like that because it puts me in mind of home. I am a boilermaker at Erith."

THE CITY.

Japs Make a Spurt on War News, but Russians Keep Steady.

As the momentary tightness develops, Consols are in-lined to ease off. They nevertheles closed above the orst on Saturday, and, of course, the approach of the lose of the Consol account is in itself quite sufficient cases to explain the dull tendency, while the weak-ess in the mining sections recently causes talk of pos-

LATEST MARKET PRICES.

"The "Daily Mirror" prices are the latest available.
Unlike most of our contemporaries, we take special care to obtain the last quotations in the Street markets after the official close of the Stock Exchange.

The following are the closing prices for Saturday.

onsols 2½ pc 89½ Do Account 89½ dia 3 pc 95½ ondon C.C. 3pc 98½ at. War Loan 97½	8918	Pacific	1153
Do Account 892	90	Western 1931	1241
dia 2 no OSI	953	Maniona Finat Cur	831
andom C C 2no 091	931	De Old - 103	184
ondon C.C. ope 984		Do Ord 188	182
at. war Loan 178	.974	Rosario Consu 914.	92
ansvaal Loan 978	981	Do Def 82	84
	Contract of	Canadian Pacific, 126k	1268
gentine 1886 1034	1033	Gd. Tnk. Ord 1429	144
Do Fund'e 1031	104	Do let Pref 1038	1000
gentine 1886 1031 Do Fund'g 1031 razilian 4 pc 1889 771	78	Gd. Tnk. Ord 1443 Do 1st Pref 1033 Do 2nd , 881 Do 3rd , 391 Nitrate Ord 71	888
Do W.of Minas 89	. 1001	To 0-1 " 008
Do w.orminas en	897	Do srd ,, and	404
1111 1880 80	88 .	Nitrate Ord 71	172
hinese 5 pc 1896 894	100
evoti'n Unified 1042	1053	Aerated Bread 83	. 9
hili 1886	1032	Aerated Bread 83 Allsopp Ord 31	32
n 5nc Gd 1805-6 86	88	*Coats 96/6 Gas Light Ord 92	97/0
Do 4 no 761	77	Gna Light Out . 09
Do 5 pc 109	984	Gas Light Crd. 228 Hudson Bay 404 Ln. Gen. Om. 116 Lipton 19/- L.& I. D. Df. Ord, 72 Nelson's 20/6 Sweetmeat Auto. 15/6 Vickers, Maxim. 143	203
r. Deus 927	903	Trucken Day to	303
Do Pref 26 ortuguese 62½ ussian 4 pc 1899 92 oanish 4 pc (Sld) 87 urkish 4 pc Un'd. 84§		1.n. Gen. Om 110	119
oringuese 624	63	*Lipion 19/-	20/- ussian 4 pc 1899 92	924	L.& I. D. Df. Ord, 72	73
anish 4 pc (Sld) 87	871	Nelson's 20/6	31/6
uckish 4 pc Un'd. 848	846	Sweetmeat Auto. 15/6	BIRE
ruguay 31 pc 561	571	Vickers Mavim : 123	. 12 regard at he act		Welsbach Ord 2	- 5
:- bean Def 1911	122	messbach ord 2	14. 8
righton Def1211			. 00
aledonian Def 291 entral London 91	291	Anglo-French 33	98
entral London 914	021	Ashanti G. F 28	- 53
hatham Ord 15%	151	Assoc, G. M 213	23
Do Pref: 97	. 99	Ashanti G. F 28 Assoc, G. M	28
Do Sud Pref. 61 -	64	Champ. Reef 170	15
hatham Ord 158 Do Pref 97 Do ind Pref. 61 reat Eastern 903	911	Chartered Co 19	- 11
Manchan Def 2001	401	Cian & Cub	21
L. Northern Del. 591	- 401	City & Sub 03	Ug
real Central A 14.	144	Con. Gold S.A 63	02
t. Northern Def. 391 rest Central A 14) rest Western142 etropolitan 953	1422	Chartered Co. 12 City & Sub. 63 Con. Gold S.A. 62 Crown Reef. 142 De Beers Def. 186 East Rand 716	147
		De Beers Def 188	19
etropontia 502 istrict 572 idland Pref. 694 Do Def. 675 orth British Def. 44 orth Eastern 1401 orth Western 1500 buth East'n Def. 572 muth West. Def. 555	. 382	E. Rand. M. Est 4	- 79
idland Pref 691	694
Do Def 671	68	Geduld	63
oveh British Def 44	443	G'ld'nhuis F 34	. 55
orth Fastern 1401	140	Gold Coast Amt. 21 Gold Coast Amt. 21 Gold a Horseshoe 713	123
arth Western 1501	151	Cold's Horselves 71	. 53
orth Western 1500	101	Ca Plat Day Name 1018	11/4
outh East h Del. 5/8	584	Gt. Bld. Per. New 10/6	11/0
outh West. Def. 55 Do Ord162		Do Prop 20/9.	20/3
Do Ord 162	164	Gt. Fingali 10/ 716	74
		Do Prop. 25/9 Gt. Fingali 10/ 7 % Ivanhoe 74/9 Joh. Con. In. 28	: 75
chison 742	747		24
altimore	824	Knights 58 Lake View Cons. 132 May Consolidated 348	82
resancake 312	321	Lake View Cons. 13	13
i Mil. & S. Pl. 147	1475	May Consolidated 340	42
013	22	Meyer & Charl 58	55
	241	Meyer & Charl 58 Modderfontein 84	- 60
ric Shares	292	Moderionem 84	08
Do 1'ret 598	598	Mysore Gold 636	04
hnois Cent 135	1354	Nile Valley 18 N. Copper 28	12
ville and N ville113	1181	N. Copper 28	- 24
issouri 162	17	Nundydroog 114	- 17
ntario 264	268	Nundydroog 14 Ooregum . 1 Oroya Br'wnhills 33	11
orfolk Com 578	578	Oroya Br'wnhills 3%	34
enasylvania 59}		Oroya Br wahills 32 Primrose (New), 32 Randfontein 3	1 93
and no	941	Randfontein 3	93
Carlo ()-1	017		524
minern Ord 218	- 216	Rio Tinto 524	201
minern Pacific. 488	458	Rand Mines 10	104
nion Pacific 918	919	Bons Gwalla 1	2
.S. Steel Ord 10	102	Sons Gwalia 15 Trans. Devel 14	12
Do Pref 574	573	Waihi 576	. 01
rnasyrvania 394 eading 244 outhern Ord, 218 outhern Pacific, 485 milion Pacific, 918 S. Steel Ord, 10 Do Pref. 574 abash Pref. 344	354	Waihi	12
	200	Welgedacht 7	74
A. Gc. South'n132	133		11
or couth misz			-
	2. E.	div

'Five figures in 3 of an inch.'

Read the "appreciation" of an accountant on page 2. Then you will see why it pays to get a "Daily Mirror" Fountain Pen.

FOR THE HOLIDAY SEASON.

The "Daily Mirror" will be sent to any address in the United Kingdom for 1d. per day for the convenience of holiday-makers.

NOTICES TO READERS.

The Editorial, Advertising, and General Busines Offices of the Daily Mirror are:-

Mirror are:

2, CARMELITE-STREET,

2, CARMELITE-STREET, TELEPHONES: 1310 and 1319 Holborn,

The West End Offices of the Daily Mirror are:—
45 AND 46, NEW BOND STREET, LONDON, W.
TELEPHORE: 1986 Gerrard.
TELEGRAPHIC ADDRESS: "Reflexed," London.
PARIS OFFICE: 23, Rue Taitbout.

Daily Mirror

DREARY BUSINESS.

A few years ago Lord Kelvin, who is not only our greatest man of science, but also a very clear-sighted student of public affairs, spoke of Lord Rosebery as a man who "in some matters had acted on principles far higher than those of party politics." It was quite true. Lord Rosebery had at that time done a good deal to remind us of the time

When none were for a party, But all were for the State.

What we are thinking to-day is, "Could Lord Kelvin say the same thing of Lord Rosebery

Take the speech he made on Saturday. The note running through it was Party at any price. The language used about the Licensing Bill was conventional and insincere. The abuse of the Government on general grounds was hackneyed. The whole speech was what lawyers call "common form."

We have no particular love for the Government or the Licensing Bill, but we certainly shall not think the worse of them for Lord Rosebery's feeble mud-throwing, nor will anybody else. Not even the Radicals themselves can pretend to be heartened for the fray by such thin stuff as this. One of their own papers speaks of the official Liberals having outlived their epoch."

Their dreary harangues are enough to disspirit any political body. They have no fight or "go" in them. The moment has come when they should. . leave politics to more active and eager spirits.

That is the real secret of the failure of the House of Commons to make people take any interest in its proceedings. If its own members yawn in its face and decline to sit through its interminable, dreary debates, how can the its interminable, dreary debates, how can the outside public be expected to regard it as anything but an anachronism and a bone?

On both sides the leaders are "stale" and without convictions. On both sides the rank and file is undistinguished and weary. We want, a new lot of politicians—men eager to reform abuses, anxious for good and cheap government, men who want to do things and do not mean to be contented with making speeches about them.

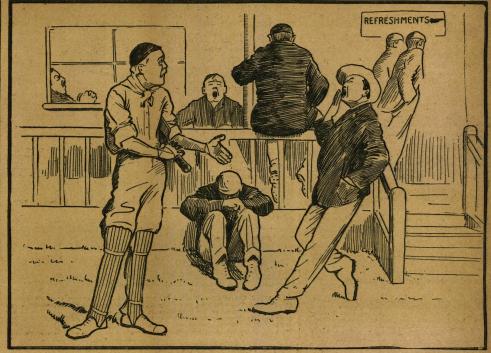

A House of Commons full of such men would get through more useful business in a month than the present House does in a couple of Sessions. The only question is, Does the country really want anything better than it has got at present? That "Nations have the Governments they deserve" is an old proverb, but a very true one nevertheless.

It has been supposed of late years that oldfashioned Christian names are dying out. There are so many Gwendolens and Gladyses and other high-sounding names about that and other high-sounding names about that they create an impression fancy names are becoming more popular than the other kind. But returns show that Mary and William are still the favourites, with John, Thomas, George, Elizabeth, and Sarah not far behind. treorge, Elizabeth, and Sarah not far behind. We are rather sorry to hear that Jane is out of favour. There is, it is true, one parish in the Midlands where every girl is called Jane, but elsewhere the Janes are a declining quantity. Dorcas and Abigail we can spare without a pang, but we should not like to part altogether with Jane.

A THOUGHT FOR TO-DAY.

King Edward's political talents are of a high order, and he has displayed great ability in strengthening Great Britain's political relations with foreign Powers. He has constantly exhibited calmness, reserve, moderation, and tact, and con-sequently his meeting with the German Emperor will give rise to no fears regarding the present trend of British politics.—Leading article in the "Russ," of St. Petersburg.

A DIFFICULT GAME FOR THE CAPTAIN.

THE CAPTAIN OF THE TEAM: If you fellows won't back me up and play the game, I shall declare our innings closed, and let the other side go in.

Mr. Balfour has announced that unless he receives proper support from the Unionist members in the House of Commons the Government will resign.

MORNING'S GOSSIP. THIS

Probably the reason why Rrince Arthur of Connaught is not going back just yet to the 7th Hussars in South Africa is that the King is very fond of the boy. But it is pretty sure to make talk in the Army. Royal Princes ought not to be favoured, as he has been, by being given jobs in England when their regiments are in less pleasant parts of the world. It is hard upon the young man himself, too, for he is really anxious to be a thorough soldier.

Increasing age has only increased Lord Kelvin's modesty. He was eighty yesterday, but he still insists that he knows very little, although he is by common consent the greatest practical scientist of his age. One day he was being shown over some electrical works. The manager did not know who he was, and talked rather big. At last Lord Kelvin turned round suddenly. "What is electricity?" he asked. The man, with some confusion, admitted that he could not tell. "Ah, well," said Lord Kelvin, "that's the only thing about it you don't know—and I don't know either."

* * *
The Lady Airlie who is mentioned as having The Lady Airlie who is mentioned as having been treated by a Scottish bone-setter, whose fame preceded that of William Rac, would make an excellent patient for such a healer. She is an Irishyoman and has all the love of her race for he unusual and the uneanny. The present lord is her little ten-year-old son, who succeeded when her husband fell in South Africa with a dozen Boer bullets in his breast.

I remember hearing at the time of his death, in 1966, a pathetic account of the way Lady Airlie received the terrible news. She was 'm' Bloemfontein, and one day there ran a rumour through the town that Lord Roberts had been killed. At once Lady Airlie went off to comfort Lady Roberts. Her heart went out in deepest sympathy to the sorrowing widow. But when she reached the house, news only too true had taken the place of vague report. It was Lady Roberts who had to play the part of comforter.

Many people will be glad to hear that Mr.

silver ornaments, all arranged with mathematical exactness. Nothing ever out of place; all-betokening an orderly mind. The next step, when the skeleton is complete, is to clothe it with flesh, and this cannot be done amid the hubblu and excitement of Loudon. So off go Mr. and Mrs. Pinero to some order ic country spot, and that it where the dark deed is finally accomplished.

Mr. Leo Maxse, who has cleverly seized on a fad of the moment, and is offering the "National Review" at a reduced price to people who take in the "Times," is one of Mr. Chamberlain's most useful fiscal lientenants. He has all the wild energy of his father, Admiral Maxse (who used to be called. "Mad Fred") and a shrewd eye to the main chance as well. Also he can push along ideas in the fashionable world, for his sister married Lord Edmund Cecil, and his brother a daughter of Lord Leconfield. There is nothing aristocratic in his editing, however. It is very much on the spot.

T have read several times the last few days, in connection first with Mr. Justice Wright's reported death and then with his retirement just announced, the story that he put up a board on his Hampshire property bearing the words, "Trespassers will not be prosecuted." As a matter of fact, the notice was, "Trespassers cannot be prosecuted." The cream of the joke, however, has yet to come. The judge shortly afterwards not only took down the board, but actually applied to the courts for an injunction to keep trespassers out!

junction to keep trespassers out!

This was not the only occasion on which an excellent judge found that he had acted too hastly. One morning he came into court in a great hurry to finish a case he had partly heard the day before. A barrister got up, but before he could begin Mr. Justice Wright said, "We do not want to hear you any more," and gave judgment without further ado. Then the barrister got up again, and remarked, with gentle sareasm, "It may not matter much, my lord, but you had not heard me at all. You have decided the case against me without knowing what I had to say!." On this occasion it was seen that even judges blash.

Many people will be glad to hear that Mr. Pinero is writing a new play for autumn production. Perhaps they would like also to know how he sets about it. First of all, he consults in conormous note-book, labelled "Every Day," into which he puts whatever takes his fancy in the way of quaint character, snatches of dialogue, or plot suggestions. Then, when he has chosen his plot-idea and the people who shalf carry it out, he sits down at his table and works out a skeleton play.

Such a beautifully-neat table it is, too! Inkstand, pens, pencils, paper and envelopes, little is certainly not empty-headed.

A MAN OF THE HOUR.

Admiral Togo.

It was a bad day for Russia when Hetachi Togo was born forty-seven years ago.

He was bound to be a great man somehow, and the direction of his greatness was fixed when his parents sent him to England to be trained for the sea on the Worcester, down Greenhithe way.

The boys on the ship didn't like him much because boys on the ship didn't like him much be-cause he was a "Japanee," and he didn't much like them for calling him "One-two-three-go." But he learnt a lot, and the records of the Worcester say of him: "Conduct, excellent; ability, very good."

say of him. "Conduct, excellent; ability, very good."

Against his we may put the verdict of the Russian newspapers, which call his conduct dustradily. But even they cannot help admitting his ability, although they do call it devilish.

They speak of his sinking of a Chinese transport at the beginning of Japan's war with Chean as if it was an act of piracy or Thuggism. People who understand that war is war, and not a drawing-room game, are more sensible. And with his countrymen this one act made him a hero—"the man who sank the Kowshing."

Since this war began he has made himself the greatest naval repentation in the world. There is no other commander now fiving who can be put in the same rank with him. He is "the Nelson of Japan."

the same rank with limit. He is the property of the property o

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

What Is "Beri-Beri," the Disease Which Has Attacked Some of the Chinese Labourers in South Africa?

Beri-beri is pretty commonly met with in India and the Far East. It seldom attacks any but vegetarians. Doctors attribute it to lack of proper nourishment.

nourishment.
Its symptoms are great weakness and frightful dropsical distention of the belly, limbs, and faceboth symptoms developing so rapidly, as to terrify alike the sufferer and those attending to him. Hence its name, beri, meaning "deblity," and the reduplication of it, beri-beri, signifying "extreme," "alarming," "fatal," deblity. Good food, stimulants, and rest are the only cure. It is a disease almost unknown amongst

"MIRROR" MOTOR AFTER 1,000 MILES.

The "Mirror" motor-car photographed at Durham on Saturday, after completing 1,000 miles of the 2,000 miles non-stop run. Rain was falling heavily, and the occupants of the car had to procure oilskins.—(Photograph by J. W. Lucae, Sheffield.)

ENGLAND'S "DEADLY FOE."

Miss Maud Gonne (Mrs. McBride), speaking at the Holborn Town Hall on Saturday, described the British Empire as the "symbol of evil in the world," and appealed to Irishmen to destroy that Empire. The audience was more amused than anything else.—(Photograph, Chancellor.)

FIREMAN'S GALLANT RESCUE.

Thomas H. Abbott, the gallant fireman who plunged into the Thames at Cherry Garden Stairs, Bermondsey, while wearing his full uniform, and rescued a boy named Donis Dulligan. The tide wasso strong that he was unable to regain the shore, and, with his burden, had to be taken on board a boat.

The London co

MR. PERD

The residence of Mr. Per

THI

Mrs. Sterry and Miss Mor

SCENES AT THE GREAT SALVATION ARMY CONGRESS.

Putting the finishing touches to the great temporary Congress Hall in the Strand.

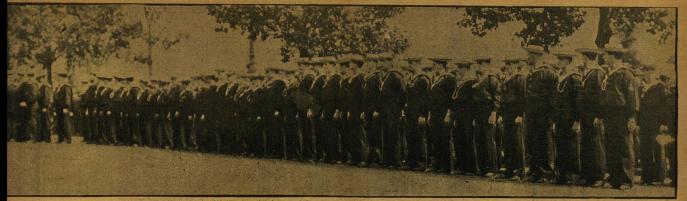

The crowd at the opening of the Congress Hall on Saturday.

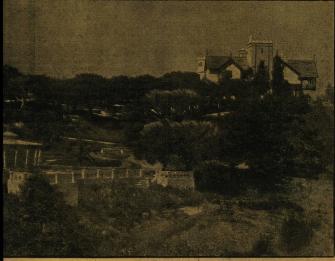

The temperance organisations assembling on the Victoria Embankment on Saturday, ready for their procession to Hyde Park to protest against the Government Licensing Bill. Sir Wilfrid Lawson, M.P., was the principal speaker.

THE CREW OF THE BUZZARD MUSTER ON THE HORSE GUARDS' PARADE ON SATURDAY.

folunteers "fall in" on the Horse Guards' Parads. After inspection, the men marched to the Embankment, and went on board their training ship, the Buzzard.

ARIS RELEASED FROM HIS CAPTIVITY BY RAISULI.

YESTERDAY'S SCENE AT BOULTER'S LOCK.

In spite of the showers that felf during the day, yesterday was a delightful day on the Thames, and the upper raches were the scene of the gayest of river parties. Boulter's Lock, when this photograph was taken, was as gay as ever.

L-ENGLAND LAWN TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS AT WIMBLEDON-SATURDAY'S PLAY AND TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

e winners in the semi-final round of the Ladies' Singles, play the final to-day, and the winner then Mr. F. L. Risley beat Mr. M. J. G. Ritchie in the final round of the Singles Champion-p'ays Mias Douglas, the present holder, for the championship. ship, and plays Mr. H. L. Doherty, the holder, for the championship to-day.

GREAT BARGAINS CAN BE BOUGHT. THE SUMMER SALES—WHERE

AMAZING SACRIFICES.

GRAND SALE AT MESSRS. PETER ROBINSON'S.

The season has still many brilliant weeks before it, and then society and the world in general betakes itself to the sea and country resorts for the holiday season. So it is in the very best moment possible that the summer sales begin to-day with stock that is absolutely fresh and an offer of completely beautiful bargains that are really worth buying in every single departm

Oxford-circus is certain to be besieged by eager omen, who will flock to the great sale held at Peter Robinson's which begins to-day and continues for the whole of July. There are substantial reductions in every single department, but in the ones devoted to costumes the most sweeping sacrifices are being made.

Extremely Desirable Dresses.

With all the real heat of the summer before us, how delightful it is to be able to pick and choose between nearly three hundred voile sun-ray skirts, in all the useful colours as well as black and cream, the usual price of which is 19s, 11d, but which during the sale will cost only a penny less than 18s.

Then there are numbers of most useful and hand-me holiday coat and skirt costumes carried out cool canvas and light-weight tweeds and cloths, any of them copies of original Vienar models, he coats are all lined with silk, and yet the price these suits is only 29s. 6d., though before the sale gan they cost from three and a half to and a half guineas. For a holiday nothing all possibly be better than an English illor-made coat and skirt costume in dark ue or cream serge. Such may be secured for s. Ild., while trotteuse skirts (so indispensable

About

"Force"

The best advice for warm weather is to "keep cool." Some foods make it impossible—they can't help heating the body. "FORCE," good at all times, is an ideal Summer food. It gives the maximum of nourishment, gives the digestive organs the least amount of work for the holiday) of tweed, cloth and serge, well cut and smartly shaped, can be secured for 14s. 14d. each instead of the original price of one guines.

And you needn't strike a match to get it ready.

Surry Jim

In the same department there are originally contained to the contained of sixteen and eventy-five guineas upices. As all canny women well know, even a soiled French model is a good hargain, for it can be sent to the cleaner's, and will return as good as new; but these models at Peter Robinson's are quite fresh, and are, therefore, more of a bargain than such a tollette usually is.

If a dress length is preferred to a made-up robe a large range of those will be found in the department devoted to fabrics. There are tweeds, the original prices of which were from 3s. IId. to 6s. IId. a yard, that will be sold for a shilling; lovely muslius in beautiful designs range from $\frac{4}{2}\], and among the silks there are numbers including the fashionable louisine, daintity-spotted Shantung, and striped mousseline, that are reduced to Is. 9d. a yard. Add to these thousands of yards of smart checked taffetas and striped black taffetas, brocade, and chine silks, as well as satin Oriental, chiffon taffetas, and crèpe de chine, at prices equally low, and it will be conceded that Oxford-circus should be the bourne of every bargain hunter during the next six weeks.

Betwixt and between the made robe and the dress length is what is called the unmade robe, com-

AWAY FROM HOME.

One of the most curious facts in reference to students of beauty culture is that so few of the enthusiasts make practical use of their knowledge when travelling. As a consequence the majority of globe-trotters present anything but a pleasing appearance. Lines multiply with startling rapidity, appearance. Lines multiply with startling rapidity, tan accumulates, and freckles fairly revel in the opportunity presented, in addition to which ills is the sense of discomfort that exists when one feels as well as looks positively unpresentable. The first inclination of every weary traveller is, naturally, to remove every sign of the dast that is bound to accumulate during the day's voyaging. Warm water and soap are immediately brought into vigorous play, and, as a result, a lobster-like visage appears, and, instead of the discomfort of feeling that one's face is in need of cleaning, is the decided sensation of pain that denotes that it has been made extremely sensitive and more than usually unattractive by the renovating process. Powder applied at such a time is worse than be employed to give the mixture the required odour. The mixture that results is a sort of creamy, white substance, and is best used by being applied to the face gently. After a few moments remove it by the aid of warm to moments remove it by the aid for warm to the same of the same

THE FAIR GLOBE TROTTER

SUMMER SALADS.

COOL AND REFRESHING DISHES.

The concocting of salads is one branch of the culinary art to which the wise housewife pays atculifiary art to which the wise housewife pays attention the whole year round, but to which she gives extra care in the summer time. At this season in particular vegetable and fruit salads make the most welcome and appetising additions to the luncheon or dinner menu.

With a dinner of several courses the simple green salad is usually preferred, but as a luncheon dish a salad composed of vegetables served alone, or with the addition of cold meat, fowl, or fish, is most satisfactory. If care is exercised to utilise the cupful of peas, the half-dozen or so stalks of asparagus, and the silices of tonatoes that are usually to-be found in the larder with fresh crisp lettuce leaves and a simple dressing, the luncheon salad may be an economical as well as paltable-dish.

CUCUMBER AND GREEN PEA SALAD.

Péel and cut a large cucumber into thick slices of about two inches, and hollow out enough of the seeds to form a kind, of cup-shaped receptacle. Season the interior with salt, pepper, oil, and vinegar. Toss some cold cooked peas in this dressing and pile them up in the cucumber cups. Stand each little cup on a slice of beetroot, tomato, or a lettuce leaf, and serve mayonnaise sauce with it. Any other small vegetable, such as French beans, or a macedoine. of cooked-vegetables, may be used instead of the peas.

EGG AND TOMATO SALAD.

EGG AND TOMATO SALAD.

Peel some fine ripe tomatoes by dropping them for a moment in boiling water, and cut them, in halves transversely. Boil until they are hard as many eggs as there are tomatoes, and when they are cool shell them and cut them across the middle. Take out the yolk and rub it to a powder with a little mustard, pepper, and salt. Add some finely chopped gherkin, and press the mixture back into the whites. Cut a slice off the bottom of each half egg to make it stand upright. On each half tomato place a spoonful of thick mayonn size, and on this stand the half eggs. Garnish the dish with strips of chill, gherkin, and white of egg, and sevee them with either lettuce or watercress nicely seasoned.

CALL!! IT COMES.

Every first-class hotel and restaurant has Grape-Nuts in the kitchen for guests who WILL HAVE IT.

It is sometimes left off the menu, for it costs something, and the proprietor had rather serve some less known food that is given to him free for the privilege of being named on the menu.

However, if one likes Grape-Nuts predigested food and values the feeling of strong, vigorous life that comes with its use, call and it comes.

THE GRAPE-NUTS CO., LTD., 66-67, Shoe-lane, London, E.C.

The charming opera toilettes shown in the picture are, beginning on the left, a black not gown with a handsome jet berthe and bow below a white tulle chemisette; a burnous mantle of an Oriental type made of lovy satin with Eastern embroideries and green and white mousseline roses; and a rose-pink souple satin frock with a pink topax shoulder strap, worn with a rose-pink leather scarf.

prising a skirt that is cut and shaped, with material and trimming for a bodice, the whole only requiring a little skilled labour to transform it into the most handsome toilette. The "Goodwood" unmade robe should be asked for it is built of Shantung silk, with a very dainty skirt, well-cut and shaped, and sufficient material and trimming for the bodice, and yet the cost of it is only 37s. 6d.

LUMINOUS LAMP SHADES.

JAPANESE RICE PAPER IN USE.

Geisha lamp shades are much liked now, and one point in their favour is their economy. Fashioned of rice paper, upon which roses or other blossoms are painted with skill and effectiveness, and divided by ebonized strips of thin wood, they are a welcome addition to the list of household accessories. A lamp shade of dark green rice paper, divided into panels by means of bronzed wood and painted with roses, is a very charming summer one.

useless, for the roughened cuticle refuses to accept it, and the face looks worse instead of better the moment it is attempted.

A Cleansing Cream

A Cleansing Cream.

All this trouble may easily be avoided by spreading over the face and neck a cleansing cream. Leave it on for a few moments; and then use a bit of cotton wool or a soft handkerchief, and genlly rub the surface over. Behold! every particle of dirt will be easily removed, leaving the skin as soft and fair as an infant's, with absolutely no vestige of inflammation and no possible chance of becoming irritated.

For those who are not yet educated in the use of creams, a very effective cleansing mixture is made with ten ounces of rose water, one or two drachms of powdered castile soap, half a drachm of glycerine, half an ounce of borsa, and half a drachm of tincture of benzoin together. The bearsoin should be added to the rose water before any of the other ingredients have beaded. Last the borxa and glycerine should be added. Last of all, one ounce of spirits of wine should be poured in, and any of the perfumes desired may

KING OF DRAMATIC CRITICS.

Death of Mr. Clement Scott, Whose Verdict Made or Marred a Play.

Mr. Clement Scott has not lived to enjoy the proceeds of the benefit matinée, given in his honour at His Majesty's Theatre on Thursday last, when about £1,500 was realised. It was mentioned at the time that Mr. Scott was too ill to attend, but no one imagined his death to be only a matter of two days distant.

The great dramatic critic passed away on Saturday morning, at his residence in London, having a sad coincidence lapsed into unconsciousnes by a sad coincidence lapsed into unconsciousness while the benefit performance was in progress. He died without regaining his senses.

No critic ever did better or more effective work for the theatre and the Press.

His capacity for work, if not exactly for taking pains, was amazing. The "Daily Telegraph" once set him three assignments in one day—a great cricket match, a big fire, and an important new play. To him these were all dramatic incidents worth writing well.

It is hard to imagine that a critic gould, in comparatively recent years, have wielded so great an influence over the fortunes of a new play, play in induced over the Friday of the registry or player.

But praise from Clement Scott, even faint praise, meant money to managers and fame to dramatists and actors. His condemnation was sincerely freaded, and it was poor consolation for those he attacked to reflect that his criticism was unjust. It was near inspinere.

attacked to reflect that his criticism was unjust. It was never insincere.

The deceased had a glowing pen, a rich vocabulary, and a style that made easy reading, albeit he often wrote at great length. There was little moderation about his opinions. He praised or blamed in an impassioned way.

MANAGERS RAN_NO RISKS.

MANAGERS RAN_NO RISKS.

It used to be-said that managers of theatres, before raising the curtain on, a first night, would send round to ascertain whether Mr. Clement Scott was in his place. They did, not care to run any risk of incurring the displeasure of the man who represented the "Daily Telegraph," or more correctly, represented himself and published his candid impressions in the "Daily Telegraph."

In early life a War Office clerk, Mr. Scott's first literary contribution was published in "Saturday Night," a paper that was run by Tom Hood, son of the poet, and a colleague of Mr. Scott at the War Office.

For something like nineteen years Mr. Scott remained at the War Office, the reason for 1 is leaving on a pension being the reduction of staff, It was on the staff of the "Sunday Times" that he made his first essay in criticism, by describing a tournament at Cremome. The details of Fis report on this occasion were culled mainly from "Ivanhoe." The young writer characteristically observed to a friend that "Mr. Seale (the pro-prietor) imagined, poor man, he had discovered a cenius."

prietor) imagined, poor man, he had discovered a genius."

He lost his appointment in a curious way. Having occasion to go to Rome, during his absence he nominated as deputy Mr. W. S. Gilbert, the prince of librettists, whose criticisms set many of the managers by the ears, with the result that Mr. Scott had to suffer for his selection, and Mr. Joseph Knight was appointed in his stead.

Subsequently Mr. Scott joined the staff of the "Weekly Dispatch," and was later on appointed to the staff of the "Daily Telegraph," with which paper he was connected for nearly thirty years.

Mr. Scott never attended a rehegraal. He would see the play for the first time on the opening night as an ordinary member of the public.

Speaking of plays he once confessed that he considered Falconer's "Oonagh" to be the most extraordinary play he had ever witnessed.

ONE WAY OF STOPPING BORES.

"I remember the play started at 'eight o'clock," he said, "and it was all talk, talk, talk—no incident to speak of—until twelve o'clock arrived. Then the audience began to inquire into things; when was the play likely to be over?—and the like.

"Those queries presently developed into an uproar, and at two o'clock in the morning the stage carpenters, consumed with a feverish thirst, laid hold of the carpet on the stage and dragged.if from under the feet of the last six loquacious characters, and down they all went on their backs, followed by the curtain. That was the end of 'Oonagh.''

In Mr. Scott's experience the most expensively-mounted plays were those produced with the produced of the most expensively-mounted plays were those produced in the most wear that the most wear that the most wear that the most wear that which greeted irring's "Hamlet" in 1674, and the most wearing house I can ever call to mind was that which first beheld our premier actor as Charles I."

In his time Mr. Scott was critic, dramatist, author, poet, and editor. It was in "Punch" that his best-known poems first appeared anonymously, while "The Times?" published in extenso his "Cryo of the Clerk" and "The Women of Mumbles Head," verses which became popular recitations for professionals and amateurs alike. Mr. Scott was whole, or part, author of many plays, among which the most successful were "Diplomacy," "Off the Line," "Tears, Idle Tears," "The Cape Mail," and "Peril."

His name is attached to many song s, "The Midshipmite" being one of the best known.

FALSE TEETH AS BOOTY.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Saturday.
A daring gang of Berlin thieves have recently ade a raid on dentists' show-cases displayed outside their houses.

Some forty cases have been cleared of their contents, the value of the false teeth stolen in some instances being over £50.

The Premier's Daughter

By ALICE and CLAUDE ASKEW.

CHAPTER XXIII. (continued.)

"To present the future stepmother to her daughter," Beatrix Heron repeated Paul Carew's words slowly, as if their full meaning had hardly dawned upon her brain, then she put her hand up to her forehead, and drew it across her brow. "I must be dreaming," she exclaimed in startled tones. "Father, who is this man; is he mad?"
"Leave the room, Beatrix," commanded the

"Leave the room, Beatris," commanded the Premier hastily, gathering his scattered wits together and full of a wild desire to save Beatrix from a knowledge of the truth for a few hours longer. "I have a good deal to tell you," he went on, "but I will explain all when we are alone; pray leave me now." He was conscious, as he spoke, of the keen, direct glance Beatrix had flung at Margaret Carew, and he felt certain that she had taken the other's measure.

"Why shouldn't your daughter know the truth at once?" exclaimed Paul Garew, stepping forward. "Your father is going to marry again, Mrs. Heron, and he had soone my sister the honour of asking her to be his wife, and, after some hesitation, she has consented. I have given my blessing muasked, and now, by a lucky chance, you have arrived to join the little family party." He stopped speaking, amused by the blaze of anger that lit up the girl's pale face. She took no heed of him, but turned passionately, almost imperiously, to her father. "It is not true?" she asked, in ringing tones. "Oh, no, it cannot be possible? You are not going to marry that sort of woman." The contempt in her voice was cutting, and Margaret winced under it. "You are not going to insult my mother's memory so cruelly as to put such a person in her place? Oh, I will never believe it," Beatrix went on passionately.

"NeverHeless it is the truth, Beatrix," Robert memory so cruelly as to put such a person in her place? Oh, I will never believe is," Beatrix went on passionately.

"Nevertheless it is the truth, Beatrix," Robert Chevenix replied, with some show of dignity, and squaring his wide shoulders, and looking his daughter in the face as if determined to carry off the situation with a high hand. "I have no need to ask for your consent," he went on quietly; "I have a perfect right to choose my own wife without consulting my daughter. It may interest you to know that I cared for Miss Carew years ago, but circumstances prevented our marriage; things have altered since; she will be my wife."

"I see." Beatrix closed her mouth tight and hard, and at the moment she bore a curious resemblance to her father when in his fighting vein. Then she cast another swift glance at Margaret.

The unhappy woman raised her eyes humbly almost imploringly, to the gird, as though entreating mercy; but Beatrix turned her head word secondary in the properties of the properties of the production of the properties of the pr hand.

The three actors in the drama watched her, each thinking their own thoughts. The silence was tense with emotion, unbroken save by the crackling of the wood fire, the steady monotonous ticking of the wood fire, the steady monotonous ticking of the schedule.

of the wood life, the scaay monotonous teaching of the clock.

Beatrix pulled the fingers of her gloves down carefully and buttoned them with slow and painful precision. She noticed a stray thread of brown stilk looping out from one of the seams, and she bit it away with her sharp white teeth. It came upon her that she was breaking other threads as well, but after all, what other course was possible? She had walked dantity, holding her skirts aside, but she knew the class of society to which Margaret belonged, and this woman was to be her father's wife. Had he not just said so himself? She gave her gloves the lagt little stroke, then jangled her bracelets down over the wrists and put up her hands to her hat to adjust her brown veil. There was a grace and digasty in all her movements, and she held herself in with iron, matchless strength. Another woman might have burst into tears or overwhelmed her father with passionate invective, not so Beatrix Heron.

The Premier watched her proudly. He had always said Beatrix had a will of iron, and this daughter of his was proving his words now. She was passing out of his life, deserting him, departing like a young goddess, surging with scorn. He loved her, first because she was his daughter, and also for herself, and he was losing her.

"Good-bye, father," the girl advanced to him, holding out her, hand, perfectly tanh and composed in manner, yet he noticed that her breast was heaving under the brown velvet bodice, and here a surfaced to here." I cannot do have your larger and softer "I cannot do here." I cannot do here your larger and softer to him; "you are a proud woman, Beatrix, and I respect your pride."

Paul-Carew burst out hughing, and moved to the door, his sister following him closely. "I won't disturb these pathetic adieux," he said sneeringly, "nor will our dear Margaret; but as Mrs. Heron has chosen to insult my sister out of a mistaken sense of pride, and to object so strongly to her father's proposed marriage, let me ask her a simple question, only one question, my dear Mrs. Heron, but it will be worth your while to hear it, if only for your husbands's sake." He fased his mocking eyes on Beatrix as he spoke, and yet it seemed as if a little pity had crept into their black depths.

Beatrix turned imperiously. "What have you got to say to me?" she asked coldly; "I have never seen you before; I never wish to see you again."

"I can quite imagine that." He made a le bow. "Now for my question, dear lady. De your husband happen to be related to a certa Philip Denzil? If he does I should advise you bow. "Now for my question, dear lady. Does your husband happen to be related to a certain Philip Denzil? If he does I should advise you to show some civility to your future step-mother, also to pull off those gloves which you have put on with such exquisite, such Parisian, care, and to take off your hat, and accept the situation as you find it. Pride is all very well in its way." His smile was malicious, and his white teeth gleamed as he addressed the startled girl. "But those who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones. If my sister is prepared to swallow your father-in-law as a family connection I think you had better make apyour mind to accept her. Come, Magaset." He pushed his sister to the door and opened it, and a second later it had closed behind them both, and field, grazing at Robert Chevenix with horror-struck, frightened eyes, and her father could do nothing except to watch her helplessly. She must decide on her own course of action, make her own decision. On his part he was overwhelmed by the discovery that Paul Carew knew of the dangers and difficulties of the situation a thousand-fold, and, worst of all, it gave the backmailer the whip-hand over himself and Beatrix.

All at once a quiver passed over the girl's face, and all her pride broke down with a rush. "For John's sake," she muttered, "I must accept that woman, for John's sake, but John must never lean that anyone knows Philip Denzil is his father. At all costs, I must keep the truth from him."

As she spoke she took out her hatpins with quick, nervous fingers, and then flung the hat on a table; this act was the signal of her capitulation.

Robert Chevenix sank heavily into an arm-chair and buried his face in his hands. He thought longingly of the strange giddiness that had seized him earlier in the morning, and of those brownensts of mental oblivion. He wished he countered refer to the done of the service of black main than to be alive to things as the year. He rouse himself difficulties of cert his dealing the his active to things as of

"My poor, little girl," he said, tenderly. "Ah, Trix, this is rather a bad hour for both of us." "You look ill, father," she whispered back fearfully. "Forgive your own Beatrix if she was hateful just now, but the whole shock came upon me so suddenly. You are in the toils too, and that hateful man has got you in his power just as he has got me, but we will help each other. What is the secret of his hold over you? Tell me the whole truth, trust your own child, for are we not of the same blood? We must stand and fall together."

The Premier hesitated. How could be tell Beastrix the facts as they really were? Let her know that he had deceived all England, eyen down to the two old annets, Miss Grizel and Miss Jean, and that he had deceived all England, eyen down to the two old annets, Miss Grizel and Miss Jean, and that he had married her mother under a false name. No, whatever happened, Beatrix must be screened from such a stupendous revelation.

There was only one thing to do. Even to his daughter he must take on the dead man's, sin, he must plead guilty to crimes of which he was wholly innocent, he must let her believe a lie.

Beatrix knelt down by her father's side when he began to speak, and listened patiently to the main incidents, and Paul Carew's share in the roule had to be told, though.

Beatrix rove from her knees when the short rectal was over; and walked slowly up and down the room, trying to straighten out the mental coli, and the range of the property of the property of the most patients. She came up to her father's chair at last and haid her hand on its shoulder. "On, that poor woman," she said slowly, "You must be very good to her now, father, and I'll be

"Oh, that poor woman," she said slowly. "You must be very good to her now, father, and Plk be good to her, too."

CHAPTER XXIV.

Amy Blandford sat by the fire in her pretty green drawing-room, toasting her feet. She had drawn the skirt of her pale blue net dress slightly up and was making a lavish display of soft, lacy coat—a petticoat all frills and flutter.

She was quite alone, but her thoughts were hearing her company, and they were strange and complex thoughts.

Julian Grimwood was coming to dine with her, and she had dressed in good time, as she always liked to do on those evenings when she expected to see him, for her resolution to shut her door had liked to do on those evenings when she expected to see him, for her resolution to shut her door had soon weakened, and Colonel Grimwood was a constant visitor at the Chelsea flat.

During the past three months they had met almost every other day, and the world was only waiting for the announcement of the engagement Yct Amy shrank back nervously from such-a step, conscious of the bar between herself and the man she loved.

But Colonel Grimwood knew of no possible barrier. He thought the woman was as free-as he was, and he was beginning to get annoyed by her persistant refusal to consent to a declared engagement. He could see no possible reason for such behaviour; they met as friends in public, as levers in private, and the indefinite state of things annoyed him.

First of all he had been amused, and had put it down to mere caprice and a desire to prolong happiness, but now he was disturbed and upset. Besides, he wanted to get back to Dartmoor. He had settled in his own mind for an Easter wedding, and he wanted to leave his estate in good trim before starting on a prolonged honeymoon. "I can be fixing things up with the baliff at Deercourt," he thought to himself, "and interviewing the gamekeeper and gardeners whilst Amy runs over to Paris and chooses her trouseau. Why can't the little woman make up her mind; it isn't as if she wasn't awfully fond of me?"

Fond of him! The man little realised the passionate devotion the woman gave him, a devotion almost pathetic. He stood before her as the representative of all that was attractive in man, and Julian Grimwood would have started back thunderstruck could he have glanced into Amy's soul and seen the image she had shrined, an image made in his likeness.

The sound of the opening door caused Amy to give a little nervous scream and to drop her skirts, hastily over her knees. "Colonel Grimwood," an image made the started that the should be supported that the started parlournaid, and Amy rose to greet him, flushing hotly.

"I came very early," he explained, gazing at her blonder prettiness admiringly, "but I could not help coming. I want you to play to me before dinner, and we will talk afterwards, when we have have hand to the started of the started that the started hand to the started of the started hand to the seed of the started hand to the started hand had been started hand to the started hand had been started him and caressing to the started hand had been started him and the started hand had have never played better," he whispered caressingly, as they walked across the little hall into the dining-room; "your playing was a revelation to neight, even to me."

"I wanted to make good music," she smiled up at him nervously, "just for you to remember, in case I never play to you again."

"What nonsense," he replied quickly, yet the expression in her eyes startled him, and he felt a faint touch of aspitey. He replied quickly, yet the expression in her eyes startled him, and he felt a faint touch of aspitey. He replied quickly, yet the expression in her eyes startled him, and he felt a faint touch of aspitey.

Dinner was a cheerf cream brocade, edged with fine and rare yellow-lace. Everything the eye rested on struck a note of beauty.

After the dessert had been put on the table, and the maids had left the room, Julian Grimwood looked at Amy critically, and then glanced at her strange portrait.

"Do you know," he said slowly, and rather dreamily, "you are growing more like that picture. I cannot tell how it is, but you are. Something about the smile, perhaps, or an expression that comes into your eyes—can you explain it, Amy?" he looked at her passionately, drinking in her beauty, his eyes shining and glistening.

"I can explain it perfectly," she answered slowly, resting back in her high oak chair; "I was dreaming of love when that portrait was painted, and now I have met the man I dreamed about."

"Amy!" he sprang to his feet, pushing aside his chair roughly, and then he crossed over and knelt down by her side, putting his arm boldly round her waist and drawing her unresisting form to him. "When will you marry me," he asked, hoarsely, "at Easter?"

She quivered at his touch and lay back in a dreamy content, and then she roused herself with an effort, trying to drag herself away from this paradise of the senses. "I cannot marry you," she muttered; 'dearest, I cannot—"

"What do you mean, "he asked, passionately, "and how can you play with me like this? Don't you understand that I am a man and cannot bear it? What is to prevent our marriage—is there any cause or just impediment?" He used the old Cluurch Service words, because they were the first to come into his head.

SHIRT-SLEEVES CLERGYMEN IN

Vicars and Curates Who Work as Painters, Labourers, and Gardeners for the Sake of Their Churches.

Clergymen who work are not so scarce as Miss Marie Corelli's recent sweeping censure of the English clergy would suggest.

In the poorer parishes the contributions of the congregation go but a little way towards the upkeep of a church. Many earnest, hard-working elergymen have therefore manfully taken off their black coats and set to work in their shirt-sleeves, so that they might at least have a church of which

GILDING THE CHANCEL.

The Rev. Mr. Lewthwaite is such a clergyman.
When he was appointed vicar of St. Paul's, Pear Tree-street, Clerkenwell, he found he had perhaps the smallest congregation in London.

the smallest congregation in London.
"In a poor parish like mine," he told a Mirror representative, "the only way to get the people into church is by appealing to the senses. Most City churches are dult and dingy inside, as well as

The Rev. Mr. Lewthwaite, in three years, with his own hands, gilded the chancel of his church. He took his lessons in gilding from a church-he Rev. Mr. Dwyer, the vicar of Gray-gg, in Wostmorland, has rodecorated is whole church and repainted the organ.

warden, and by his work effected an improvement is standing-room only in St. Paul's, Pear-street, at Another clergyman who took to manual labour to serve his church is the Rev. R. Oakley, curate at High Wycombe, who turned the neglected God's Acre into a picturesque enclosure. Although his congregation helped him he did much of the spade work himself, and did not hesitate to climb a tree when the branches required lopping.

At All Saints' Church, Brookfields, Birmingham. the vicar, the Rev. Mr. Clease led a party of ama teur workers from his congregation in renovating and improving the church. Scores of able-bodied girls, by vigorous scrubbing, cleared away the en crusted dirt of thirteen years. Supplies of hot water were carried to them from adjacent schools by the youths of the parish.

Mr. Clease also converted the churchyard from a howling wilderness into a beautiful garden and playground for children. He also repaired the EXTENSIVE PARISH.

The Rev. Mr. Dwyer, the vicar of Grayrigg, in Westmorland, a parish comprising twenty-five square miles, is a notable instance of a working dergyman. He has entirely redecorated his church, painted the organ, and made many im-

At Sutton-in-Ashfield the clergy solved the difficulty of getting their church repaired by executing clergyman carved all the choir stalls needed for his restored church.

These instances of working clergy could be easily Inese Instances in working leggy who from netural necessity are driven to manual labour, as was shown when the sad case was published of the Rev. G. F. Briscoe, of St. Benet's, Kentish Town, who was trying to support the dignity of a clergy-man on £122 a year. Many instances were then given of clergymen who even did grave-digging and washed their own linen.

DO YOU WANT £100 ?

How an Art Expert May Earn a Summer Holiday.

$2.100 I will pay to the first person who can prive that Bank of Rame PicTURE I have beposted in the NR.
Bank of Rame E.C., is not the celebrated lost Original MADONNA DEL PASSEGGIO, by RAPHAEL, or that its pedigree is not as follows:

Commissioned of Raphael by the Marchioness of Mantua.
Ex Mutuan Collectio. 1.63%
Ex Objection Charles I., England 1651 (£600).
Ex Royal Collection of Spain, 1811.
T. GROME.

" No? Not a Raphael, then prove it! Anyone can say yes or no," says undismayed Mr. T. Crome, a picture-dealer, of Crosby-square, in the heart of the City, who publishes this advertisement in a morning paper.

He has been besieged by applicants for the £100.

They come hot-foot and hands out, saying that the real and veritable picture figures prominently in the Bridgewater collection.

Mr. T. Crome then reaches for a reference book and points out certain marked paragraphs, wherein the work. The congregation, however, soon will-ingly gave them their assistance.

The Rev. R. Cakley, curate at High Wycombe, turned the neglected cemetery into a garden.

At Beeston the parish church was cleaned thoroughly from top to bottom by the clergy and congregation; and at Lowestoft St. Peter's Church was enlarged and restored in a similar way

A little more than two years ago Christ Church, Reedham-street, Peckham, was one of the most dilapidated places of worship in England. The Rev. Robert Macmillan, assisted by members of his congregation, worked in his shirt sleeves, painting, decorating, and papering. It is now a beautiful church, and a credit to the community.

CHEAP VESTRY.

Another rector who worked in his shirt sleeves is the Rev. B. G. Popham, rector of Shoeburyness, who built a fine vestry adjoining the church of St. Andrew's. The cost was £16, just the bare expense of materials. Quite recently also another an authority states the Bridgewater picture to be a beautiful old copy, for which, nevertheless, £3,000 an authority states the bindewater plantie to 0.0 % beautiful old copy, for which, nevertheless, 25,000 was paid.

Relations become more strained if the visitor, disappointed of his expected bonanza, turns the tables on Mr. Crome, now seeming not over generous, by putting a forefinger on another statement, on the authority of the same paragraph, which says the picture was popular when it was painted and for years after many fine old copies existed.

But the canny dealer is equal to the emergency. He says he has searched many records at the British Museum and on the Continent, and is convinced himself that the work is the original lost masterpiece.

The picture is on canvas; a rare thing for a Raphael, but our friend of Crosby-square is not deterred. It was known, says he, to have been so painted.

So there you are! If you don't believe in it, prove your point, and you will get the 2009—enough for a nice summer holiday and something to spare.

LADIES PAY I/- WEEKLY and DRESS IN THE HEIGHT OF FASHION.

We will send this splendid Costume to any reader on receipt of

FIVE SHILLINGS ONLY

you can pay the balance whilst wearing it at the rate of 4/- per month until 21/- is paid.

DESCRIPTION-This

We guarantee satisfaction or return money paid in full. Send to-day and address:

JAMES REID & CO., Dept. 7. Duke Street, COVENTRY.

DIRTY DICK'S D.D. 48-49, BISHOPSGATE ST. WITHOUT, E.C.

BORWICK'S

THE LONDON & PROVINCIAL FURNISHING CO., 248-249-250, TOTTENHAM-COURT-RD

10/- DOWN BUYS

EXCITING LAWN TENNIS.

Final of the Singles Championship-Stirring Play in the Ladies' Event.

BELGIANS BEATEN.

. In spite of threatening weather there was a big attendance at Wimbledon on Saturday. Fortu-nately, rain held off, and a big crowd watched the play with the keenest interest.

Several hot fights were expected, the chief being

Several hot fights were expected, the chief being the final in the singles between Ritchie and Riseley for the right to meet the champion, H. L. Doherty.

This proved disappointing. Ritchie was a trifle off colour, and had the misfortune to meet his reducibable opponent right on the top of his form. Riseley could do nothing wrong, and before one well realised what had happened he had taken a love set. The second and third sets were practically repetitions of the first, and Riseley won by 3 sets to love (6–0, 6–1, 6–2). If Riseley plays as well to-day against Doherty for the championship the game will be worth going many a long mile to see.

Riseley in the Doubles.

Riseley's play was indeed the feature of the day. With Smith, against Mahony and Hillyard in the third round of the Doubles, he started brilliantly, if, afterwards, he went off a trifle.

In the first set, which he and his partner won (6-3), his net play was remarkable. Time after time he tricked both his opponents, and brought off seeming impossibilities—in particular a backhander on the extreme left—one of the finest strokes ever seen in a court.

off seeming impossibilities—in particular a back-hander on the extreme left—one of the finest strokes ever seen in a court.

His "crossing" and "smashing" were also very fine. Twice in quick succession in the second set he smashed a ball so hard that it went soaring away over the stands.

Doherty looked on with almost painful interest. In spite of Riseley's good play, Mahony and Hillyard just won the second set (T-5). This, however, was their last effort, Riseley and Smith winning the next two (6-1, 6-1), and the match by 3 sets to 1 set.

Much interest was shown in the match between Gore and Caridia and the Belgians, Lemaire and Le Borman. The Englishmen, however, were too good for their opponents, and although the latter made a great effort in the second set, after losing the first (2-6), they just failed to pull it off. Caridia's play was the feature of the match, his half-volleying and net work being exceptional. It is only fair to say that Le Borman's finger seemed to be hurting him, and the result was a win for Gore and Caridia by 2 to 1 (6-2, 7-5, 6-1).

Miss Wilson's Desperato Fight.

Miss Wilson's Desperate Fight.

Miss Wilson's Desperate Fight.

In the Ladies' Singles Mrs. Sterry easily beat Miss Green by 2 to 9 (6-2, 6-1) in the semi-final, but Miss Morton had much difficulty in disposing of Miss Wilson.

After losing the first set (3-6) she won the second (6-4), and playing magnificently went to 5-1 in the third. The match looked as good as over.

Miss Wilson, in desperation, began sending in her overhand service laster than ever, and running in on it right up to the net.

She won her service, and the following game. Miss Morton seemed a trifle demoralised, and intense excitement prevailed as Miss Wilson made it 5-4. Could she draw level? No less than five times was deuce called in the next game. The excitement was painful. Finally, Miss Wilson, with a beautiful, skimmering drive into the corner, won it, and made the games 5 all.

Everything now pointed to a tremendous struggle. But Miss Wilson had shot her bolt, and Miss Morton rallying, won the next two games with comparative ease, and won the match by 2 sets to 1 set (3-6, 6-4, 8-6).

Singles Championship.—Final round: F. L. Riseley beat M. J. G. Ritchie (6-6, 6-1, 6-2), Riseley will meet the holder, H. L. Doherty, to-day.

Doubles Championship.—Third round (concluded): M. J. G. Ritchie and G. Greville beat H. N. Marrett and A. D. Prebble (8-6, 6-9, 6-1, 7-9); S. H. Smith and A. D. Prebble (8-6, 6-9, 6-1, 7-9); S. H. Smith and F. L. Riseley beat H. S. Mahony and R. H. Byard (6-3, 6-3, 6-1); S. H. Smith and M. G. A. Caridia beat P. de Borman and W. Lemaire (6-2, 7-5, 6-1).

1. Riseley beat H. S. Manony ams to revenue and the A. C. ardia beat P. de Borman and W. Lemaire (6-2, 1. Acardia beat P. de Borman and W. Lemaire (6-2, 1. Ladies' Championship.—Semi-final round: Mrs. Sterry eat Miss A. N. G. Greene (6-2, 6-1); Miss A. M. dorton beat Miss C. M. Wilson (3-6, 6-4, 8-6). Mrs. Sterry eat Miss C. M. Wilson (3-6, 6-4, 8-6). Mrs. Ladies' Open Doubles.—Second round (concluded): diss. E. W. Thomson and Miss "Hurst" beat Mrs. Hill-rard and Miss Morgan (6-2, 6-1). Third round (concluded): diss. E. W. Thomson and Miss "Hurst" beat Mrs. Hill-rard and Miss Morgan (6-2, 6-1). Wins. Sterry and Miss Douglass beat Miss Morton and Miss Stravell Brown (1-6-6, 6-6, 6-4). W. Ladies' A. M. Marcally (7-2, 6-1). Wins. Sterry and Mrs. Winch beat E. L. Bristow and Mrs. Ball-Greene and Mille. Masson (4-6, 6-6, 4). W. C. Raves and Mrs. Winch beat E. L. Bristow and Mrs. Ripley (6-6, 9-4). The Conclusion of the Mrs. Sterry v. Miss Morton. For right to meet the champion. Miss Douglass. 315: Men's singles champion. Mi

SATURDAY'S ATHLETICS.

Records in the Scotch Championships-Duffey Defeated at Wolverhampton.

PAYNE'S SURREY CUP.

The Rev. H. W. Workman, now of the R.N. College, and a past president of Cambridge University Athletic Club (whose name appears in the list of entries for the half-mile championship at Rochdela eset Saturday), ran twice unsuccessfully at the Beckenham Cricket Club's sports on Saturday.

In the half-mile handicap (won by M. P. S. White, Blackheath Harriers, with 42yd. start, in the fast time 2min. 0.2-sec. From the virtual certain mark of 3yd in the quarter-mile handicap he took $4.1-sec. The final heat was won by F. J. Paveley (Highgate H.), 23yd. start, in 50 2-sleecheath H.D. 13yd. start, won the open Mile handicap in 4min. 21 2-fsec.

SCOTTISH CHAMPIONS.

SCOTTISH CHAMPIONS.

T. R. Nicholson, holder of the English hammer throwing and weight-putting championships, was successful on Saturday in the Scottish Championships, was rowested to a Saturday in the Scottish Championships, at Powderhall Grounds, Edinburgh. His hammer throw of 154tt. Him was the same meeting R. S. Stronach won the 130 yards hurdles championship in 10 1-5sec, threely teing N. A. McLood's Scottish "all-comers" record, J. F. Start-McLood's Scottish "all-comers" and J. McGough won the "Intion" and mile. He did not defend his title in the four miles championship, which A. Wright, McGough won the "Intion" and mile. He did not defend his title in the four miles championship with A. Wright, A. G. Marray won the high jump with a fresh "Scottish record" lap of 6ff, 0jin. J. A. Campbell won the long jump at 2llt, Sin.; and R. Quin secured the three three three starts and the strings, were afterwards elected to represent Scotland against Ireland at Bellass on July 16.

PRINTERS AT THE PALACE

PRINTERS AT THE PALACE.

It was a very lengthy googname which the Printing and Allied Trades put forward at the Crystal Palace of Saturday. Carl Hentscheld: steam won the Linotype Challenge Shield. J. J. Burgess, of West, Newman, and Co., was fart man home, having covered his two miles in man. 28 and the state of the control of the co

the heavy-weignts, and the security security consists of the control of the contr

PAYNE RETAINS THE SURREY CUP.

PAYNE RETAINS THE SURREY CUP.

A mart shower piper to the commencement of the thirty-third Ravensbourne meeting at Lee Green had the thirty-third Ravensbourne meeting at Lee Green had ceeded 4,000 spectators. The fixture has a strong social side, and the racing was merely an incident in a programme which lasted for nearly nine hours, and incided, in addition to the sports, Innehon, cricket, skittles, sife shooting, and slarcing half-mile and mile were both won by C. W. Taylor (Westcombe Park C.C.), one of the limit men. As in the two preceding years, the chief feature of the programme was the ten miles level cycle race for the famous Surrey Cup, the seventh been the late H. L. Cortis (1889), H. A. Speechley (1889), P. Furnival (1889), F. J. Osmond (1890), A. W. Harris (1880), and A. J. Callaghan (1898). On Saturday E. Payne (the holder) beat A. E. Willis, of Putney after an and now requires one more victory to make the cup his own property. C. V. Clark (Tottenham) was third, and L. Meredith, the twenty-few miles amateur champion, amongst the unplaced riders.

DUFFEY AGAIN DEFEATED.

At Wolverhampton sports on Saturday J. W. Morton, of the South London Harriers, finished first; Denis Murray (County Dublin), second; and A. F. Duffey, of America (the present 100 yards champlon), third, in the 100 yards invitation race. A yard covered the three Time, 10sec.

ENTRIES FOR A.A.A. CHAMPIONSHIPS.

ENTRIES FOR A.A.A. CHAMPIONSHIPS.

The following entries have so far been received for the A.A.A. championships, which will be held on Saturday next at Rochdale.

100 Yards.—A. F. Duffey (U.S.A.), holder, F. A. Miller, F. C. Wards.—A. F. Duffey (U.S.A.), holder, F. A. Miller, F. C. Wards.—A. F. Duffey (U.S.A.), holder, F. A. Miller, F. C. Wards.—A. F. Duffey (U.S.A.), holder, F. A. Miller, F. C. Wards.—A. F. Duffey (U.S.A.), holder, F. A. Miller, F. C. Wards.—A. F. Duffey (U.S.A.), holder, F. J. Walsh, L. F. Treineer, J. W. Morton, C. H. Jupp, D. C. Western, F. E. Rowell, W. D. Talyor, E. Green, R. A. Thomas, Quarter-Mille.—C. Machiachlan, tholder), E. H. Montague, J. B. Densham, C. H. Jupp, J. W. Horne, F. E. Rowell, J. R. Flypin, A. G. Maepherson, A. G. Kennedy, H. M. Walter, H. W. Workman.
One Mile.—B. J. Blunden (holder), J. E. Schofelel, A. E. Barker, H. W. Workman.
One Mile.—A. Shrubb (holder), H. Armstromg, A. E. Barker, J. Binks.
Barker, J. Binks.
Barker, J. Binks.
Stronach, G. Buffon, H. Phillips, D. W. Walker, A. Trafford, J. Murray.
Four Miles.—A. Shrubb (holder).
Two Miles Steeplechase.—S. Robinson (holder), W. A. Trafford, J. Murray.
Four Miles.—A. Shrubb (holder).
Two Miles Walk.—E. J. Negus (holder), G. E. Larner, F. T. Curtis, H. Payne, J. McLachlan.
High Imap.—P. O'Connor (holder), R. G. Murray, J. Jong Jump.—P. O'Connor (holder), D. W. Walker, A. Flaxman, M. Dickinson, T. R. Nitcholson (holder), D. Horgan, T. Kirkwood.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

"Worth a Guinea a Box."

AT THE TOP. BEECHAM'S PILLS

are right at the top. They are at the top in point of sales-at the top in point of merit-and at the top in the estimation of tens of thousands of regular users. And not without good reason.

BEECHAM'S PILLS will do more to build up robust health and maintain it than any other medicine. They have done this, and are continually doing it for thousands all over the world. If you start now and take BEECHAM'S PILLS occasionally you will certainly benefit to a remarkable degree.

You will soon be "at the top" in point of health and so really enjoy life. Now follow this advice! Will BEECHAM'S PILLS are sold everywhere in boxes, is. 11/2d. (56 Pills) and 2s. 9d. (168 Pills), each with full directions.

Prepared only by the Proprietor, THOMAS BEECHAM, St. Helens, Lancashire.

What is it?

"PRINTERS' PIE" is the MOST REMARKABLE SHILLINGS-WORTH EVER PUBLISHED.

The proceeds of the sale go to a very deserving charity—the Printers' Pension Corporation. It is unlike anything else, and is full of Songs, Stories and Pictures by Writers and Artists whose names are household words.

NOW ON SALE at all BOOKSTALLS and NEWSAGENTS.

RACING AT SANDOWN PARK.

Good Sport Between the Showers-Bad Day for Backers-Troubles at the Starting Gate.

THROWAWAY AND THE JOCKEY CLUB CUP.

ort of visitors at Sandown Park on Saturday. There was some very heavy rain, but there was inshine for the greater part of the afternoon, he array on the members' lawn was not so bril-ant as on the preceding day, and the hurry-scurry used by the showers was not well appreciated by re ladies.

There were large numbers of runners in several aces—the average in the six events reached ten—and in no case was a first favourite successful fill the final race, the Coombe Plate—which was won y Laurier. This colt was an even-money chance. Ord Carnarvon's Vril was also backed, but little as heard in the ring of Vernham, Chicory, or the thers. Zampieri took his chance in this race, the would have run in the Robert de Wittville landicap if it had been possible to find a jockey.

-tempered Horses.

Ad-tempered Horses.
The delay in the Robert de Witville Handicap alled that in the opening race, and this proved to the content of the conten

Cup of Peril, a light-looking St. Angelo filly, was spected in the Hampton Plate to follow up for orter's stable the success of Pamilete, and she was acked at short rates to beat ten opponents, reatest danger being apprehended from the Dearture gelding, Borghese, and Bellator. Cup of eril galloped like a winner for a few furlongs, but ell to pieces when tackled. Borghese did not runbit kindly, and Bellator, who also has a will of is own, suffered defeat from the filly by Sir Hugo-Acmena. The winner is the property of a Scotcha sportsman racing under the name of Mr. trathern. Acmena filly was subsequently bought if or 310 guineas.

Torpoint won the Wellington Handicap after a their unsatisfactory race for those who backed ure Gold. The latter was, of course, a general wourite because of the good form shown in the scot Stakes and the subsequent running of Merry adrew. Butchers, who usually rides well, did not line on this occasion. He was all over the place a Pure Gold. Beginning the last mile War Wolf ok a lead from Torpoint, Rightful, and Pure'old, while the well-backed Wild Alarm fell back. orpoint soon afterwards headed the lot, and all wers and rough winds rather spoiled the com-of visitors at Sandown Park on Saturday, was some very heavy rain, but there was nearly four inset that distance behind the winner.

RACING RETURNS.

SANDOWN PARKSATURDAY.
2.0SELLING HANDICAP of 300 sovs; winner to be sol for 100 sovs. Seven furlongs. Mr. C. Levy's FIREMAN, by Janissary-Bonnie Mary.
Syrs, 7st 8lb
Mr. F. Pennard's PUCK, 3yrs, 7st 3lbTrigg Mr. Ferns's Balsarroch, 6yrs, 9st
Mr. H. G. Johnson's Reservist, 47rs, 8st 9lb Halsey Mr. H. Heasman's Broadway, 5yrs, 8st 8lb Maher
Mr. J. F. Hallick's The Awakening, 4yrs, 8st 5lb, Madden Mr. P. Gleeson's Kitty Tar, 4yrs, 8st 2lb
Mr. J. Hare's f by Orme—Santa Barbara, 4yrs, 7st 13lb Griggs Mr. Horatio Bottomley's Lady Voter, 4yrs, 7st 6lb
Mr. C. D. Barrow's Devoniensis, 4yrs, 7st 10lb Toon
Mr. C. Wood's Lady Anchester, 3yrs, 7st 1lb Slade Mr. H. Bate's Glenhurst, 3yrs, 7st 3lb Jarvis
Mr. H. Braime's Donorina, 3yrs, 6st 9lb
(Winner trained by Burbidge.)

ROBERT DE WITVILLE HANDICAP of 300 sovs.

5.0 Twenty-seventh Renewal of the BRITISH DOMINIO
TWO-YEAR-OLD RACE of 1,000 sovs. Five furlongs.
Dale of Bestland's BAMEI ETE by St Simon Mneme
Duke of Portland's PAMFLETE, by St. Simon-Mneme, 8at 7lb M. Cannon
Bat 710 Cannon
Mr. W. Raphael's GRACEFUL, 8st 4lbMadden
Mr. J. B. Joel's CHERRY ROYAL, 8st 7lb Halsey
Mr. E. Hobson's Aspiration, 8st 10lbGriggs
Capt. F. Forester's c by Islington-Mouche d'Or, 8st 7lb
(31b)J. Dillon
Mr. R. H. Henning's Carita, 8st 7lbF. Bullock
Mr. C. T. Pulley's Strathglass, 8st 4lbMaher
Mr. H. J. Bailey's Glengarnock, 8st 10lb W. Lane
Sir J. Thursby's Barcroft, 8st 10lbTrigg
Mr. A. E. Wolfe's Copartner, 8st 10lb A. Sharples at W C Champa's o by Bentmenth Dellering Oct 715
Mr. W. G. Stevens's c by Bentworth-Ballerine, 8st 7lb and third.

5.30.—WILLINGTON HANDICAP of 500 sors. About Mr. W. M. G. one mile and five furlongs.

Mr. W. M. G. one mile and five furlongs.

Mr. D. G. Solitana and Mr. Older, Str. St. St. St. Miles 2 Mr. D. J. Pullinger's PURE GOLD, 57s. 742 5lb ... Higgs 2 Mr. D. J. Pullinger's PURE GOLD, 57s. 742 5lb ... Miles 2 Mr. W. H. Gries's Entlend, 47s. 84; 7lb ... Machans 3 Mr. W. H. Gries's Entlend, 47s. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. W. Hightingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. W. Nightingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. W. Nightingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. W. Nightingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. W. Nightingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. M. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Males 0 Mr. Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Millingsil's Wild Alarn, by Marco-Veldt, 47ss. 84; 7lb ... Millingsil's Wild Millingsil's Wild Millingsil's Wild Millingsil's Wild Millingsil's Wild Millingsil's Wild Millingsil's Wi

4.30.—COOMBE JUNE PLATE of 300 sovs. One mile Mr. C. Trimmer's LAURIER, by Bentworth—Filepa. Mr. U. Trimmer's LAURILER, by Bentworth-Filepa, Syrs, 7th. Grigory Lord Carmaron's VEIL, Syrs, 8th Uh. Land 2 Mr. T. E. Liddan's CHEOUR's Syrs, 7th 10th. Higgs 3 Mr. R. McCresyr's Syrmour, Syrs, 7th 10th. Higgs 3 Mr. R. McCresyr's Syrmour, Syrs, 7th 20th. Bitcher 10 (Winnet trained by Walters, jun.) Betting-Dwen on Laurier, 5 to 4 ages Vril, 3 to 1 Vern-lam, 10 to 1 sary other. Wan by three lengths; six lengths divided the second and time?

BIRMINGHAM .- SATURDAY.

garnet, 6 to 1 Figing Footstep, 100 to 8 each the Beauty solding, the Chapelle gelding or any other (effect) when the Chapelle gelding or any other (effect) when the condition of the condition

The second state that "The second state of the second state of the

The second part of the second and consequent was consequent with the second part of the s

RACING IN AMERICA.

ST. LOUIS, Saturday.

In the mile and a quarter handicap at the World's Fair for a prize of 50,000 dollars, which was run to-day, Colonial Girl, who started at 5 to 1, won by two lengths from Hermis, the favouriet. Moharib was third. The time was 2min. 9½sec.—Reuter.

ST. WILLIAM OBJECTION OVERRULED.

The objection lodged against Saint William, the winner of the New Stand Handicap at Saadowa Park on Friday, on the ground of crossing, was considered by the Stewards after the decision of the first race on Saturday and overruled, a generally anticipated decision.

TRIALS AT NEWMARKET.

Jarvis, in the presence of Mr. C. D. Rose, tried St. Denatte filly to beat Cortegar filly (Wood) and Santa Panta colt (Woodburn) over five furlongs. Won by two lengths; a neck between second and third. Sadler, sea; a Circular, beat La Valerie and Golden Hackle over five furlongs. Won by three parts of a length; a neck divided second and third.

WINNING OWNERS.

SUCCESSFUL JOCKEYS.

All the leading riders made an addition to their previous score in the course of last week, the most successful being Otto Madden and the apprentice, B. Dillon, each of whom rode six winners.

The following are the full some second the successful control of the control of the INTERNATIONAL FENCING.

Programme for This Week's Great Aquatic Carnival.

The entries for Henley Regatta, which commences to-morrow and is continued on Wednesday and Thursday, were announced on Saturday. The full list is as follows:

19st 1015; R. C. Parr (cox), 78 710.

THE SILVER GOBLETS (Challenge Cup).

J. Beresford and H. T. Blackstaffe, Kensington and Vesta R.Cs.
C. J. D. Goldie and C. W. H. Taylor, Third Trinity, Cambridge.

A. K. Graham and A. R. Balfour, O.U.B.C.
T. Nadin and H. Peck, Burton R.C.

DIAMOND CHALLENGE SCULLS.

T. Nadin and H. Peck, Burton R.C.

DIAMOND CHALLENGE SULLIS.
St. George Ashe, Tima, R.C., Guy Rixon, Kingston R.C.
A Hamilton Cloutte, L.R.C.
F. S. Kelly, Balliol Co.L.Or.
C. S. Kelly, Balliol Co.L.Or.
C. G. Kay Monat, Univ.
C. S. R. Wells, Bediord R.C.
Ladies' Challenge Plate-Eton College, First Trinity, Cambridge; New College, Oxford; Radley College; St.
Thames Challenge Cup.—Cains College, Cambridge;
First Trinity, Cambridge; Granta Club, Cambridge;
First Trinity, Cambridge; Granta Club, Cambridge;
First Trinity, Cambridge; Cranta Club, Cambridge;
First Trinity, Cambridge; Cranta Club, Cambridge;
First Trinity, Cambridge; Cup.—Loudon R.C.;
Trinity, Cambridge; Univ.—Loudon R.C.;
Trinity, Cambridge; Univ.—Loudon R.C.;
Trinity, Cambridge; Univ.—Loudon R.C.;
Magdalene College, Cambridge;
Myfold Challenge Cup.—Birmingham R.C., Birmingham; Club; London R.C.; Magdalene College, Cambridge;
Chyol Cheer College, Cambridge;
Chyol Cheer College, Cambridge;
Chyol Cheer College, Cambridge;
Chyol Cheer Chyology, Chyol

WILL JENKINS WIN?

Hackenschmidt's Challenger Favourite for the Great Match at the Royal Albert Hall.

Hone may judge from the frantic scenes of excitement which take place at the nightly appearances of Tom Jenkins, the American champion wrestler, at the Royal Music Hall, the wrestling boom has again rached fever keat and a record attendance may be expected at Jenkins's match with Hackenschmidt at the Royal Albert Hall on July 2.

Hackenschmidt and his record are reall lanear in England of him as a champion of champions, but in the sporting world it is thought that he will meet more than his match in Jenkins, and the betting that has taken place shows a shade has defeated all weatlers of repute in America, and who has here lowered the colours of Alec Munroe, the only wrestler of any provess who has net him, worked as a youth in december of the province shows the state of the province show the state of the province show the state of the province shows the state of the province shows

SPORTING NEWS ITEMS.

Mr. F. Alexander's Throwaway should have appeared amongst the entries for the Dockey Club Cup. The English Rugby football team touring in Australia has, stated a Reuter telegram on Saturday, defeated New South Wales by 29 points to 6.

The annual Cruden Bay Golfing tournament was brought to a close on Saturday. Two Aberdeen players met in the final, and Mr. W. D. Davidson defeated Mr. J. A. Docaldston by Abbole up and 8 to play 1, the chief

The thirteenth annual display by the Life-Saving Society of the best method of rendering aid to persons in danage of drowning will take place at the Highgate events close to-morrow to Mr. W. Henry, 9, Bayley-street, Bedford-square, W.

SURREY JUST FAIL.

Lancashire Bowlers Helped by Rain and Sun and a Treacherous Wicket.

HAYWARD'S GREAT EFFORT.

Lancashire beat Surrey at the Oval on Saturday afternoon by 70 runs, but at one time a very dif-ferent result seemed probable, as at two o'clock Surrey's score stood at 206 with only two wickets

Hayward, who has rarely played a finer innings was still in, and only 131 runs were wanted to win. Before this, however, play had been stopped by a drenching shower, and, unfortunately for Surrey further rain during the luncheon interval was followed by a fair amount of sunshine. The result was that on play being resumed the wicket became decidedly treacherous.

Holland and Harper were got rid of at once with out the addition of a single run, and thenceforward Lancashire always had the game in their hands Seeming to despair of the wicket, the batsmen, with the exception of Knox, all went in for hitting, and so safe was the Lancashire fielding that every catch was held.

Hayward's Thousand Runs

Hayward, who had made 50 on Friday, was out sixth wicket down at 236. Up to lunch-time his batting was quite beyond reproach, and it was, no batting was quite beyond reproach, and it was, no doubt, only the change in the condition of the ground that made him alter his methods towards the finish. He was caught at mid-off from a "skier," getting under the ball in attempting a big drive. His innings of 122 lasted just over four hours, and included eleven 45.

In it he scored his thousandth run of the season, and is second to Fry in the year's aggregate at present.

and is second to Fry in the year's aggregate at present.

With Hayes Hayward put on 91 runs together for the second wicket. After Hayward left the end soon came, the last four wickets falling for 30 runs. Knox played steadily, but was quite unable to get the ball away.

Huddleston, in taking seven wickets for a fraction over 10 runs each, made up for Cuttell's absence, and the Lancashire fielding was a model of smartness and accuracy.

From first to last it was a most interesting match, and having regard to the records of the two elevens this casson, the honours were rather with the losers than the winners.

Full score and analysis:—

Full score and analysis:
LANCASE	URE.
First Innings	Second Innings.
ward b Knox 2 c	Hayward b Gooder 6
Tyldesley, c Hayward b	un out
	Hayes b Gooder 64 Hayward b Gooder 59
Sharn c Strudwick h	Strudwick b Gooder 2
I. O S Poidevin o Hav-	Knox 68
	ot out 53
Knox 15 n A. H. Hornby, st Strudwick b Lees 39 Hudaieston, b Lees 11 c Phillips, b Knox 10 b	Hayes 18
Hudgieston, b Lees 11 C	Davis b Hayes 6
Phillips, b Knox 10 b	Hayes 5 bsent, hurt
W. Brearley, not out 0 a Extras 9	Extras 10
Total173	Total302
SURRE	ν.
Hayward, b Brearley 2 c	Second Innings. Tyldesley, b Hallows122
Horse o Brearley h Hal-	Hornby b Huddleston 45
Holland c and b Hud-	Hornby b Huddleston 41
lows	Sharp b Huddleston 6
b Huddleston 0 c	Sharp b Huddleston 0
Lees, c Poidevin b Hud-	Garnett b Hallows 3
H. D. G. Leveson-Gower, c MacLaren b Huddle-eton 5 C	Tyldesley b Huddleston 14
Davis, c Hornby b Hallows 29 C. N. A. Knox, run out 4 F.	Poidevin b Hudd'eston 2
N. A. Knox, run out 4 n	ot out 7
Gooder, not out 1 c Strudwick, b Brearley 0 c	Hallows b Huddleston 6
Extras 7	Extras 18
Total139	Total266
BOWLING AL
LANCASHIREF	irst Innings.
Lees 22.2 5 69 7 I	o. m. r. w oavis 3 1 10 0
Knox 19 2 85 3	wo no-balls.
Second In	nings.
Lees 7 1 25 0 I	Pavie 3 0 18 0
Knox 27 1 107 1 E	Hayward 3 0 26 0 Hayes 11,2 2 37 3
Hayward bowled	one no-ball.
SURREY.—Firs
Brearley 22.2 4 47 2 8	0. m. r. w. 9 2 23 0
Hallows 19 9 20 5 1	dundleston . 14 5 36 4
Second In	nings.
Brearley 25 4 82 0 Huddleston , 50 21 72 7 H	lallows 42.5 9 86 3 Poidevin 8 1 8 0
Brearley bowled	one no-ball.

YORKSHIRE'S TIMELY VICTORY.

brilliant victory by seven wickets rewarded the ts of the Yorkshire eleven at Hull on Saturday. It the first time Yorkshire had beaten Somerset since the morning there was a danger that the match the the morning there was a danger that the match the morning there was a danger that the match the morning there was a danger that the match the following the morning there are the morning the morn influence of the strong wind, rolled out very well, and except for a little while when it kicked a trifle it soon became all that the batsmen could desire.

THE DAILY MIRROR.

DARK BLUES DEFFATED.

OXFORD UNIVERSITY. First Innings.

Raphael, b Cox . 5 c Cox b Leach

Awdry c Read b

McIver, c Relf b

O lbw b Cox

SUSEX.

B. First Innings.
B. Fry b Burn 21 c Bird b Burn 22 c Bird b Burn 22 c Bird b Burn 24 c Bird b Burn 25 c Bird b Burn

Extras

art, c Browning, 7 art, c Branston b as 18
b Ernsthausen 1 not out 22
ixtras 10

WINCHESTER V. ETON.

First Innings. Second Innings.

J. Astor. c Morris, b
Segrent 18 not out F. Chinnery, run out 24 b Evans
G. E. Farmer, lbw b
Evans 26 b Younger 26 b Younger 39 b Fvans

CENTURIES OF THE WEEK.

Thirteen hundreds were hit in last week's cricket. Besides his brilliant century against Lancashire on Saturday Hayfollowing in a complete list: Oxford on Auesday. The bottom of the saturday HayMonday.

Total. Far. S. G. S. Saturday. Time. Best hits.

Best hits. 22 4's 16 4's 180min. 30 4's 145min. 2 5's 14 4's 120min. 2 5's 14 4's

27 4's 15 4's

Batsman.
Fry (Sussex)
Bosanquet (Middlesex)
Tuesday.
L. Palairet (Somerset)
Hayward (Surrey)
Wednesday.

122 Hayward (Surrey) 240min. 113 W. H. B. Evans (Oxford).. 180min.

THE COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

... J. E. Raphael Hathorn (S. Africans)
Knight (Leicester)
Sinclair (S. Africans)
Payne (Cambridge) 103 Sillician to Thinh 102* Payne (Cambridge) 75hinh 102* Payne (Cambridge) 170min, 166* Ranjitsinhji (M.C.C.) 170min, 108 A. C. Johnston (Hants) 150min, Saturday 240min

nnger Blackett, c Parker

ETON. Second Innings.

49 b Evans

6 c Parker b Fawcus 13

At Brighton on Saturday Sussex beat Oxford Uni-rsity by six wickets. Full score and analysis:—

SOMERSETSHIRE.
L. Palairet, c Hunter b	Second Innings.
Haigh	c Wainwright b Myers 25 c and b Rhodes 21
Lewis, c Wainwright b
P. R. Johnson, c Hunter	c Myers b Whitehead 8
F. M. Lee, c Wainwright	lbw b Rhodes 24
b Myers	c Hunter b Haigh 26
Myers 30	b Haigh 12
S. M. J. Woods, c Tun- nicliffe b Jackson 23	c Tunnicliffe b Haigh 5
H. C. Martyn, st Hunter b Myers 49	c Wilkinson b Haigh 15
Hardy b Myers 21	b Myers 19
Newton, b Haigh 7 Cranfield, not out 0	b Haigh 0 not out 8
Extras 10	Extras 13
Total 302	Total176
YORKSHIRE.

Hon, F. S. Jackson, c. Robon b Cranfield . 84 H. Wilkinson, b Braund . 61 Wilkinson, b Braund . 62 Wainwright, c Johnson b Cranfield b Cranfield . 63 Robon . 73 Rhodes, b Lewis . 15 Myera, c Marty b Cranfield . 64 Hunter, b Braund . 3 Rhodes, b Lewis . 15 Hunter, b Braund . 3 4 Hunter, b Grand . 64 Hunter, and coult . 99 Total . 328

Second Innings.—Jackson (c Braund b Lewis) 20, Wilkinson (c Braund b Lewis) 10, Denton (not out) 37, Tunnictiffe (st Martyn b Braund) 50, Hirst (not out), 30, extras 5 total (for 3 wkts), 152.

BOWLING ANALYSIS ETSHIRE.—First Innings.

1. W. 0. m.
33 1 Jackson ... 14 0
71 0 Myers ... 9.2 1
83 4 Wainwright . 4 0 Second Innings.

24 6 64 5 Rhodes

4 0 15 0 Jackson

17.1 3 45 2 Whitehead ... YORKSHIRE. 44 6 140 4 40.2 10 110 3 20 5 40 2 0 21 0 3 13 1

LEICESTER STILL WINNING

LEIGESTER STILL WINNING.
Although there were several showers at Leicester on Saturday, play was so little interfered with that just before the Incheon interval Leicestershire had won a very meritorious victory by 219 runs. The home county had put on 211 for even wickets. The remaining hatsmen were out in ten minutes for an addition of 10 runs. Whitehead, who was not out 31, played in excellent style, his hits including ten 4's.
Hampshire were set the hopeless task of making 323 runs to win on a worn wicket, which was lending great assistance to the howlers.
Sprot hatted in vigorous style, but after he had twice cut Allsopp to the boundary off successive balls he had his leg stump sent down with the next. He was batting in an hour and forty minutes for 122 runs, and Leicestershire secured their fourth win in the county champion-ship.

Full score and analysis:-
LEICESTI	RSHIRE.
First Innings.	Second Innings.
C. E. De Trafford, c Johnstone b Llewellyn 27	. P. L. L. P. Dillie . O
Johnstone b Llewellyn 27 C. J. B. Wood, b Pri-	c Frederick b Prichard 2
chard 73	c and b Langford 3
Knight, c Hayter b Pri-
King, b Prichard 0	b Prichard 3
King, b Prichard 0	c Stone b Llewellyn 3
V. F. S. Crawford, c Frederick b Prichard. 49	c Johnston b Prichard
Whitehead, b Frederick. 21	not out, 5
Coe, b Prichard 16	c Johnston b Llewellyn
Gill, c Dashwood b Frederick 20	c Webb b Llewellyn
Odell, lbw b Frederick 0	c Bacon, b Llewellyn
Allsopp, not out 21	b Llewellyn
Whiteside, b Llewellyn 2 Extras 16	b Llewellyn 1
Extras 10	Extras 1
- Total363	Total22
HAMP	SHIRE.
First Innings.	Second Innings.
A. Johnston, c Whiteside
b Allsopp 1108	b Allsopp
Webb, b Odell 23	c Gill b Allsopp
Stone, b Coe 47	c V. Crawford b Allsopp
E. M. Sprot, c Whiteside b Coe	b. Allsopp 4
m TT 10	W. WHITTON B. Dr

Whitehead, b Frederick 21	not out, 51
Coe, b Prichard 16	c Johnston b Llewellyn 9
Gill, c Dashwood b Frederick 20	c Webb b Llewellyn 0
Odell, lbw b Frederick 0
Allsopp, not out 21 Whiteside, b Llewellyn 2	b Llewellyn 4 b Llewellyn 2
Extras 16	Extras 13
, Exeras 10	Extras 13
- Total363	Total221
HAMP	SHIRE.
First Innings.	Second Innings.
A. Johnston, c Whiteside
b Allsopp 1108	b Allsopp 4
Stone, b Coe	c Gill b Allsopp 2 c V. Crawford b Allsopp 3
E. M. Sprot, c Whiteside	C v. Crawford b Allsopp 5
b Coe	b. Allsopp 43
T. H. Dashwood, c Knigns	D. Millioppy
b Coe 8	c and b King 7
F. H. Bacon, c Whiteside b Odell 1	c V. Crawford b Gill 13
Hayter, b Odell 2	c De Trafford b Gill 16
Llewellyn, b Gill 25	c Whitehead b King 18
Langford, c Whitehead b
F B Frederick not out 8	not out 5 c V. Crawford b Gill 0
F. B. Frederick, not out 8 H. Hesketh-Prichard, c	e v. Crawford b Gill o
V. Crawford, b Gill 1	b King 7
Extras 8	Extras 4
Andreas IIIIIIII	2
Total243	Total122
	ANALYSIS.
	First Innings.
o. m. r. w.	o. m. r. w.
Langford 21 2 77 0 Llewellyn 29.4 5 122 2	Johnstone 2 0 13 0 Frederick 15 4 41 3
Prichard 32 13 92 5	Sprot 3 1 20
Tangford and Erederich	each bowled one wide.
The second secon
Pecond	Innings.
Prichard 28 4 90 3	Frederick 5 1 19 0 Sprot 2 0 8 0
Llewellyn 20.5 3 64 6	Sprot 2 0 80

otts erbyshire HANTS.—First Innings.

Allsopp ... 24 5 78 1 Odell ... 20 8 41 Gill ... 25.1 4 5 9 2 Coc ... 15 6 27 King ... 11 2 30 0 Cill boyled a wide and a no-ball, and Allsopp one wide.

FIRST-CLASS AVERAGES.

BATTING.

	of	35.)	Design Control		200
			Most
			in an	Times
	Inning	s. Runs.	Inns.	Not Out.
C. B. Fry	. 20	1438	226	2	79.88
K. S. Ranjitsinhii	. 12	691	1664	3	76,77
Iremonger	. 14	872	272	1	67,07
Tyldesley	. 16	928	. 210	2	66,28
R. H. Spooner	. 17	890	126	2	59,33
Hon. F. S. Jackson	. 11	543	158	1	54,30
Knight	. 21	977	203	3	54.27
L. C. H. Palairet	. 13	699	203	0	53.76
J. E. Raphael	. 14	733	201	0	52,35
Hirst	. 18	835	153	2	52.18
Quaife	15	605	200*	2	46,53
Carpenter	. 13	589	199	0	45,30
Rhodes	. 17	676	196	2	45.06
L. J. Tancred	12	489	106	1	44.45
Hayward	27	1045	128	3	43.54
A. O. Jones	. 15	601	113	1	42.92
Sharp	13	417	104*	3	41.70
Cuttell		374	128	3	41.55
Kinneir		530	152	1	40.76
Denton		764	87	2	40.21
F. Mitchell		517	102*	2	39.76
F. B. Wilson		435	75	3	39.54
L. G. Wright	15	591	139	0	39.40
Gunn (J.)	15	519	95	1	37.07
H. K. Foster		629	118	Ō	37.00
G. W. Beldam		440	140	0	36,66
Sewell		680	181	COLUMN TO SERVICE	35.78
Coe		425	103	3	35.41
Bowley		582	153	100	35,37
L. O. S. Poidevin		631	103	1	35.05

MATCHES AND TEAMS FOR TO-DAY.

Holland, Baber, Strudwick, Lees, Gooder, Davis, und Spith.

Spith.

Spith.

Middleast teelected from G. MacGracor, P. F. Wanner, M. Riddleast teelected from G. MacGracor, P. F. Wanner, M. Richolls, J. H. Hunt, E. S. Littlejohn, Hearne, Tretts, Rawillo, and another.

Leeks-Vorbilitier, v. Hauspahire;—Leeks-Vorbilitier, v. Hauspahire;—Leeks-Vorbilitier, v. Hauspahire;—Leeks-Vorbilitier, V. H. H. Schelle, T. A. Chippell, T. H. K. Dashwood, Liewellyn, Sione, Webb, and Language, D. H. Leeks-Vorbilitier, V. Worcentenhire, Chesterfield, Dabrilynd, P. Notts:—Notts—A. O. Jonel. Guan (W.), Guan (J.), Guan (G.), Fremonger, Wass, Hallam, Day, Cates, Hardstaff, and Manchester.—Lancahire v. Somerse.

Manchester.—Lancahire v. Somerse.

Newmarket.—Jockeys and Trainers v. "Daily Mail" C.O.

NEW ZEALAND FOOTBALLERS.

NEW ZEALARD FOUTDALLERS.

The following communication has been sent by Mr. G. Rowland Hill, hon, secretary of the Rugby Football ("The New Zealand team will start playing in this country early in September, 1965, and remain for about five months. We shall very shortly arrange their matches for them. Ainy chub desiring a fature must give a fair that the start of the s

PIGEON SHOOTING.

A long day's sport took place at the Gun Club on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Greeille Ryan secured the holdership of the members' £100 challenge cup with 14 kills, the £150 out of the pool being shared with Mr. Vernon Barker. In the two principal events of the pre-close at 250 challenge by principal events of the pre-close, at 250 d, won the £150 international cup and £250 with a run of 12. In the succeeding even the carried off a £25 cup and £100 with a further score of 9, his princ Mr. Paul de Lunden, of Belgium, Mr. J. H. Mcakin, and Mr. Southly Hewitt were also successful. A large company were in attendance at the Middlesex All-Comers, with 94, defeated an England team with 14 points to spare, and Mr. M'Aulay, a left-handed marks—The Mayleipan cup competition went to Mr. S. Skinner and the special princ to Mr. A. Parker.

PARLIAMENTRY GOLFERS.

Golfing Members of Parliament have played numerous team matches during the last two years, and they added another future to their list on Saturday, when, for on the charmingly-situated links near Bronley, Kent. The House of Commons side, which was captained by Mr. H. W. Ferster, M.P., one of the junior Lords of the Treasury, included the Prime Minister and the Colonial

Mr. Hr. Treasury, included the Frime Minister and the Treasury, included the Frime Minister and Sid Sir Edgar Vincent, Mr. Bonar Law, and Mr. Guy Pym. Still, the legislators suffered defeat by 6} matche sto 3} in a ten-a-side contest. Mr. Balfour met Mr. W. Hardly, captain of the Sundridge.

Small Advertisements

SITUATIONS WANTED:

SITUATIONS VACANT.

Domestic.

COOK-GENERAL wanted, and Housemaid; wages £20 and £18; 3 in family.—6, Bath-rd, Bedford-park, Turnham Green Sistain.

USE-PARLOURMAID wanted, for Kew, at once; 2 in amily; wages £20.—Please call, Bond-street Bureau, ew Bond-st, W.

HOUSE-PARLOURMAID wanted, for the Isle of Wight; wages £20.—Please call, Bond-street Bureau, 45, New

A CTIVE, reliable man, of good appearance and address, wanted to solicit business for a first-class company; liberal remuneration and good prospects to capable man-Address A. 1444. "Daily Miror," 48, New Bond-st, W. WANTED Apprentice for Ludies Hairdressing.—Miss Miller, 23, queen's-ter, St. John's Wood.

25 PER WEEK easily earned by advertisement writers: prospectus free.—Page-Davis Advertising School (Dept. 109), 195, Oxford-st, London, W.

BUSINESSES FOR SALE & WANTED.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHICKEN-HATCHING MARVEL,—For 2s, 6d, the Texas Egg Hatcher and Rearer combined supersades all

A STHMA CURED by Zematone.—Write for free trial box to Cornford, 4, Lloyd's av, London.

BUNION OINTMENT:-Cures tender feet, corns, chil blains; 14 stamps.-Chiropodist, 85, Regent-st, London CONSULT Mulle. Beatrice, the highly-recommender Society Palmist and Clairvoyant, at 105, Regent at hours, 11 to 7.

HAIR DESTROYER,—James' Depilatory instantly re-turn moves superfluous hairs from face, neck, or arms, with-but injury to skin. 'Of most chemists' or, free from ob-servation, postal order for 1s, 3d, or 2s, 9d.—Mrs. M. James, 268, Caledonian-rd, London.

LARRYDICK'S LAVENDER LAUNDRY, Stanley-gar dons, Uxbridge-rd, W.—The perfection of laundering HOLIDAY APARTMENTS TO LET AND WANTED.

FELIXSTOWE.—Furnished apartments; good rooms; close to sea; terms moderate.—Mrs. Cupper, Abergeldie, GREAT YARMOUTH.—Comfortable Apartments; mode, rate terms; 3 minutes sea; stamp.—45, King-st.

GREAT YARMOUTH.—Garibaldi Hotel, for gentlemen; moderate terms; liberal table.—Powell, Proprietor. HASTINGS.—Facing sea; board-residence, 21s. 6d. 25s. 6d.—Mrs. Norman, 10, Pelham-cres.

MARGATE.—Board-residence, June, 18s. 6d. inclusive.— Hewett, 16, St. John's-rd.

MARGATE (central).—Board-residence, from 18s.; every home comfort; piano.—Angle House. MARGATE.—Glenroy, 3-5, Hatfeild-rd; apartments or board-residence; one minute sea.—Westbrook.

TUBERCULAR Case received at farmhouse in Norfolk, moderate terms.—Apply Nurse, 1222, "Daily Mirror," 15, New Bond-st, W.

EDUCATIONAL.

CHATHAM HOUSE COLLEGE, Ramsgate.—Founded 94
Arms, professions, and commercial life, cade corps attached hoys under 13; 48-page flustrated prospectus sent on application to the Headquater.

STAMMERING, Lisping.—Former sufferer desires pupils.

Stammering. Lisping.—Former sufferer desires pupils.

Daily Bargains.

NOTICE. — When replying to advertisements addressed to the "Daily Mirror" Office no remittance should be enclosed in the first instance.

Dress.

A BARGAIN.—UNDERLIKEN, 9s. parcel.—8, Ladies chemises, knickers, petticoats; 3 beautiful night-dresses, 10s. 6d.; approval.—Mrs. Scott, 251, Uxbridge-rd, Shepherd's Bush.

A COSTUME to measure, 42s.—Marsh, Tailors, 47, Whit-comb-st, Piccadilly-circus.

FREE dainty sample Handkerchief, with illustrated lists; send stamp.—British Linen Company, Oxford-st, BABY'S LONG CLOTHES, complete set, 50 articles, very choice, unused; 21s.; approval,—Mrs. Max, The Chase, Nottingham.

GREAT BARGAINS

This very smart Travelling Cloak, in every make of cloth and in all weights, suitable for all climates and occasions. Usual price, SALE PRICE, 45/- to 6\(\frac{1}{2}\) Guineas. 31/6 to 4 Guineas.

DERRY AND TOMS,

. . AT . .

KENSINGTON HIGH ST., LONDON, W.

SALE.

Commencing TO-DAY, Monday, June 27.

REMNANTS HALF-PRICE

ON THURSDAYS,

June 30, July 7, 14, 21, 28.

MOTORS AND CYCLES.

CYCLES at popular prices.—500 special Bargains on offer.

Ladies, Gent.s, Boys, Girls, from £5; payments from

2. 6d, weekly, immediate daliver, lists free, 90 solied,

8 p.m.—"Oycledom," 54 and 55, Blackfriars-rd, S.E., and 24, King 5-rd, Ohelsea, S.W.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

BELL Organ; grand new model; 14 stops; list price 31 guineas; bargain, £15.—Henry, 50, Somerleyton-rd

PETS, LIVE STOCK, AND VEHICLES.

Doubles made lattics materials; accellent fit, style;
Droughes made lattics materials; accellent fit, style;
Droughes made lattics materials; accellent fit, style;
Chonist, W., to see their choice and exclusive selection of French Model Gowas, consisting of merning, afternoon, visiting, and evening gowas; race costs, dust closks, tealestest, swappers; alik, proceeds, mustin, cumbrie, and sevening gowas; race costs, dust closks, tealestest, swappers; alik, proceeds, mustin, cumbrie, and trance, Bleinheimst.

Dailyry Tex. Pressing, or Bed Jacket 28, 2d.—Write Lorne, 46, Fitzory-st, London.

Fine IRISH LINEN.—Buy direct at lowest prices; ladies handserchiefs 2a. 3d. dozen; collars 4s. 11d. dozen; ablirts renewed 15s. for six; price lists free.—Hutton's, Room 81, Larne, Freland.

DAILY BARGAINS.

sol. London.

A. BARGAIN.—Sheffield table Cutlery; 5-guinea service; 2 table, 12 dessert knives, pair carrers and steel; Cayford vory balanced handles; unsolied; accept 10.8 e.g., approxil.—Mrs. H., 68, Stockwellerd, S.W.

A. DEOIDED Bargain.—Strong Striped Henny Hearthrugs; 6-guid.—B. and G. T., Martin, Forest Row, Sussex.

CHARMING Coloured Ministures from any photograph, 1; in silver pendant, 1s. 6d; gold, 5s; samples sent. Chapman, Artist, Swanes.

Const.—Occupier, Fearon House, Loughborough.

The mounted Combr. all en suite; lady will soft arows by both the St. and the St. and pieces); list price £8 19s. 6d.; accept 35s.; half quantity, 18s. approxis. Mrs. Roberts, 2. Claylandred, 8.W. GTAMP Collectors—Guide to stamp collecting, littletted, stamps, including new King type, gratis by sending 1d. to cover postage—Butler Bros., Cleredon.
THE Strawd Pipe; delighting smokers; no cleaning; cod, delicious; sample briars, i.s., is 5d., &. 6d., 4s.—5t. etc. of Pipe Syndicate, Léd., 37, Walthroom, E.G., or post-free.

VENETIAN Blinds; carriage paid, 4½d, per foot; list free.
-Blind Works, Tudor-rd, Cardiff. QD. will buy 3s. 6d. worth of artistic Picture Postcards; sent free.—Publisher, 6, Grafton-sq. Clapham.

O. DAVIS, PAWNEROKER,
GREAT CLEARANGE SALE-FULL LIST POST FREE
10/6. CENT.'S MAGNIFICENT 18 CARAT GOLDlevelled movement, perfect timekeeper, 10 years witten 4 blott. Seal statische), guaranteel, 15 years wear, worth payment. 19/6. LADY'S £6 6s. SOLID GOLD (stamped) KEYgraved case, splendid timekeeper, 10 years' warranty, wark's 19/0. LESS WATCH, jewelled 10, robies, richly engraved case, plaunid timekeeper, 10 years warranty, wer's trial. Socrifice 19s. 6d. 55. SERVICE SHEEPFIELD 10/6. GPREN, 12 Table, 12 Chesse Rives, Carves, and Steel; Crayford 10ory balanced handles; unsolled; sacrifice 10s. 6d.; approval before payment. Sec. 6d. Approval before payment. 8/6. caras agod teampoint of the control of t

MARKETING BY POST.

A. A DAINTY DRESS PARCEL for 30s.; a marvel of enterprise; 2s. 6d. deposit, balance 1s. weekly; write

CHOICE TABLE POULTRY and genuine Fresh Butter.—
Send P.O. 5s. for sample basket, carriage paid, coataining pair young Fowls, ready trussed, and 1lb. pure the paid of the paid of the paid of the paid
Hewett, Outwell, Wisbech, London Depot; 401, Central Market, E.C.

The state of the s

DOULTRY.—H. PEAKE IS THE PIONEER OF CHEAP POULTRY.—Send me a P.O. for 4s. 6d., and I will send you, carriage paid, 2 large finest quality chicken, usually sold in retail shops at 7s. couple; other goods at market prices.—H. Peake, 402-403, Central Market, London.

A SPECIAL OFFER IN POULTRY BY MAPLES AND CO.—See advertisement below.

MAPLES AND CO. supply Meat and Ponitry direct to the consumer at pholesale prices; price list on application. Special: Two Fowls, trussed, delivered free in town or country on receipt of P.O. 4s.—All communications to Maples and Co., Meat Contractors, Smithfield, E.C., Chentus and P.O. at be crossed London City and Midland Bent., Pottenhan Courted Branch.

Advertisements under the headings: Houses and Properties. Partnerships and Financial.

Appear on page 2.

Printed and Published by THE PICTORIAL NEWSPAPER Co., LTD., at 2, Carmelite-street, E.C.—Monday, June 27, 1904